

The Funny Man

Our jokes are not the rarest gems
That come from witty guys,
But try your hand at one yourself,
Before you criticize

Connolly — Well, Giddah, I think I will be able to make Peggy very happy.

Giddah — No doubt, one thing is sure she will always have something to laugh at.

Jack — Lend me a dollar and I'll be always grateful to you.

Dope — Yes, I know you will.

Thunder — This floor is very slippery. It's hard to stand on your feet.

Fair One — (looking at her shoes) Why were you really trying to keep on my feet? I thought it was purely accidental.

Chess — (In football field) Look here, umpire, there are two fellows who should never have been on this team.

Umpire — (Seriously) Who's the other fellow?

Tidy — I should like to write for the Red & White. You want the manuscript sheets blank on one side, don't you?

Editor — On both sides, if you please.

Allan — Do you notice any particular effect since you quit smoking?

George — Yes, Tessier passes me in the corridor now without speaking.

Owen — How did you get your musical talent?

Rubber John — I was born in A flat:

Just as Bud was writing his name on the College register, a bed-bug appeared and took its way across the page. Bud regarded it for a moment and then remarked, scratching his head the while, "I-I've been b-bled by Ch-Charlottetown fl-fleas, b-b-bitten by Aldershott spiders, and interviewed by-by Lake Keefe g-gray backs, b—but I'll be darned if I was ever in a-a place be-before where the b-b-bed-bugs looked over the register t-to find out where m-my room was."

Lapointe — Don't you think Cote has beautisul teeth ?

Sampson — Yes, they're like the stars in heaven, out every night.

McCabe — (showing paper) These are my marks for the half year.

Fay — Oh! I thought it was Woolworth's price list.

Professor in Geom. — Reggie give me a difinition of a "poly-gone"

McKinnon — Please sir, a-a "Poly gone" is a dead parrot, sir.

Bones — O'Hanley hasn't been in town very long has he ?

Dick — From appearances he hasn't, for when the waitress handed him the menu last night he said, "No thanks, I don't care to read, with my meals"

Prof. in History — The Italian states with exception of Genoa - - - -

Bert — (Suddenly waking up) Sh-h-h-h, don't let Hilda ever hear that name.

Prof. in English — Give an example of "some" used as an adjective.

Martin — Some feet.

Thunder — It is a strange thing that the biggest fool always has the most beautiful girl.

V-io-A — Oh, you flatterer!

White — Do you like fish-balls ?

Cullen — Well, I've never really been at one.

Tessier — Im afraid oratory is sadly on the decline.

C-ll-gan — How is that ?

Tessier — Well, Demosthenes is dead, Cicero is dead, and I'm not very well myself.

ST. DUNSTAN'S

Dinny — (Seing sprinkler for the first time) . Just look how that thing leaks. Why the idiot won't have a drop of water when he gets home.

Miss C — What beautiful fresh flowers ! Why, I think there's some dew (due) on them yet.

Lloyd — (in great embarrasment) There is but I'm going to pay it off to-morrow.

Willa — (In 6th year English) How could I put a hemlock around my head ?

Prof — Well, ycu might graft it on.

Miss — (Out walking with Fay) Oh, look at that bull ! H'es making straight for us.

"Here ! roared Fay, "Don't stand there doing nothing. Come and help me to climb this tree."

Bushy — Say Tidy, let's see who can make the worst face

Tidy — Go away, look at the start you have on me.

Bones McQ. — (Angrily) Bud, get up and draw those curtains I haven't slept a wink all night with the sunlight streaming in through the window.

Tremblay — George, do you like to see Christmas come ?

Leslie — No, because then I'll be booked for another bath.

Duffy — I'm so shy I don't know what to talk about.

She — Talk about a minute and then fade away.

Thunder — Stop one of those blows of Pete's, Fido.

Fido (in despair) Sure, I'm stopping them all

A Welsh Farmer had a Tidy little dog named Fido With a Bushy tail and a Chewed-ear. When chasing a Stork near a Duck-pond, a Caribou with a Thunder-ing noise Wedged him into a Tar-hole in Bull-acre. Fadder took him to the Sage Doctor Chase who put some Dope in his Lug. When he heard the Price was two Bones, he turned White, took up his Cain — by Ginger, and went away Mad-again.
