"Unprotected"?

We Canadians are a race of home-lovers and home-makers, and well we may be for the home is the centre of our national life and the great secret of its strength; Unfortunately the home is often broken up and the dear ones scattered because of the death of the husband and father. Life insurance enables us to provide against this peril so that even should death intrude, the home will be held together for the means of maintaining it in comfort will be at once available.
