

ATHLETICS

Once again the curtain falls upon the scene of athletics at St. Dunstan's. From the end of the hockey season until the snow begins to vanish, the tide of outdoor sports is at a low ebb and indoor games ride high until that joyous season, when all nature is aroused from its winter slumbers, is ushered in. After a long winter one wishes to enjoy the peaceful sunshine and must be out of doors to do this. Handball is the first of the spring sports. Next softball steals the limelight until the end of the College year.

Looking in retrospect over the past year, we are unable to boast of winning any championships, but our teams lived up to that high standard of true sportmanship which has ever been St. Dunstan's chief source of pride in her teams. Thus we say farewell to sports until another season and breathe a prayer that the institutions which we love and cherish will ever be able to function and produce the leaders which the world so sorely needs today.

BASKETBALL

Regular practices have been held on the Prince of Wales court by the Saints' first team which is swiftly rounding into top form. On April 1, the Saints' squad lost a close decision to the All-Stars of the Y. M. C. A. The game was hard fought throughout as evidenced by the 10-10 score at half time.

In the second half, nice shooting from the corners by the All-Stars proved too much for the Saints who, although gaining several break-aways, failed to capitalize. Three quick baskets by A. Shama in the second half gave the All-Stars a lead which they did not relinquish despite constant pressure by the Saints. The game ended 21-20 for the Y. M. C. A.

A series of two games with their old rivals, P. W. C., is scheduled to start shortly. The games will be played on the Prince of Wales court.

HANDBALL

There is seldom any mention made of this college sport in the news so perhaps a word here would not be amiss. One knows that Spring is indeed near when he sees the boys busy removing the last trace of snow from the alleys so that they once again may regain that top form which they possessed until Old Man Winter made it no longer possible to enjoy this game. Judging from the attention which our three fine alleys receive, handball will always be assured of a prominent position in sport activity at St. Dunstan's.

VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball took its place on the college athletic program this year. The Students who do not play handball or softball have always longed for some pastime outdoors, and now volleyball serves to provide this needed activity.

The interest shown in the newly organized league shows that it has captured the fancy of the Student body and from all appearances it will occupy a high position in our sporting program.

SOFTBALL

This game occupies first place with the Students from the time spring has been ushered in until the final examinations are at hand. For a number of years past, the season has been so short that no baseball has been played.

There are four teams in the league, namely, the Giants, the Athletics, the Red Socks, and the Phillies. The second section has been completed with a three way tie for first position. The next team is trailing by one point.

It would be folly to try to forecast the outcome of the league, because the teams are so well matched that it is anyone's title until the last man is out in the final game.

TROPHY

At a meeting of the Student body Capt. James Morris of the Intermural Hockey Champions was presented with a beautiful trophy. We wish to thank that enthusiastic sportsman, Mr. Fred Pickard of the Bike Shop, for his kind gift. This trophy will be an annual award to the Champion Intermural Hockey Team.
