

event to it but yet it was an extraordinary day, for it was on this day that Kimble was born to his parents, Mr. and the late Mrs. Frank Jay of Mount Stewart, P.E.I. His birthday was of significance because Kimble was one of the chosen few destined to go to a university and take his place in the world as a man who had obtained a degree. This he has done, and admirably too, only, however, after overcoming the many obstacles and pitfalls that lie on the road to higher learning.

At an early age, Kimble entered Mt. Stewart grade school, and after successfully passing all the grades, he enrolled at St. Dunstan's High School in the fall of 1952. By entering Grade XII, he was able to complete two years work in one. Although presented with this forboding task, he was equal to it and in 1953 he began first year college, in the science faculty. For the next four years he labored constantly and conscientiously so that this spring he will be the recipient of a Bachelor of Science degree.

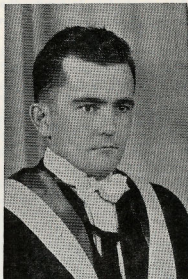

Not only in scholastic achievement did Kimble hold a high place, but he also attained great heights in the athletic field of endeavour in time that he spent at S.D.U. He participated in all the Intramural sports such as hockey, soft ball, and handball, and was a ranking player on the first and second college football teams, which fact resulted in his being awarded an Athletic D for football.

This, then has been the life of a fine student and gentleman, and next year he goes to one of Canada's major universities to take up the study of geology.

JEAN-GUY LEMAY — SCIENCE

Jean-Guy was born in Montreal on January 8, 1935. After having completed his primary education in Shawinigan Falls, he attended "le Seminaire de Trois Rivières". He then entered St. Dunstan's in September 1954, and leaves this year with his science degree along with an engineering certificate. Jean-Guy has been a very valuable member of our intercollegiate hockey team, and also of the newly formed football squad. He intends to enter Nova Scotia Tech. next year to continue his engineering studies, and his completion of his studies there will add a third degree behind his name, as he has already merited his Arts degree. The achievements that Jean-Guy already has to his credit, and those which the future is certain to bring, will surely make him a prominent figure and a leader of men wherever he goes.

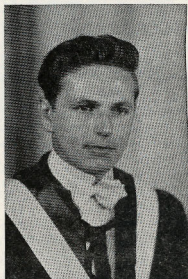

EDWARD JOSEPH MCCABE — ARTS

On June 1, 1933, "Husky" was born in Charlottetown. He received his primary education in Iona and there he developed that enthusiasm which was to stand by him throughout his studies.

He entered St. Dunstan's in 1948 and having completed his High School, he attended Prince of Wales and was then engaged in the teaching profession for one year.

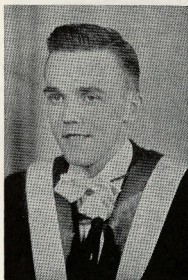

After an absence of three years, he returned to St. Dunstan's to advance his education in the field of Arts. During his college life at S.D.U., "Husky" has filled several important positions and actively partook in all campus activities. As a Freshman he was a member of the Dramatics Society; in his Sophomore year he was hockey manager and a member of the executive of the Amateur Athletic Association; during his Junior year he was assistant canteen manager and this year he was manager of the canteen, a much expanded and enhanced unit during his years of service. "Husky" also has merited his commission in the Royal Canadian Army Corps.

His generous and kindly personality, together with that spirit of "Ambition has no risk", which we have known at St. Dunstan's will no doubt carry him on to success.

JAMES ELLIOTT LEO MCCAULAY — ARTS

Elliott was born in Charlottetown on May 13, 1934, and is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis McAulay. He entered St. Dunstan's in the fall of '51 after graduating from Queen Square School that same year. Upon completion of his junior matriculation, Elliott registered, as a freshman student, in the faculty of Arts. As a non-resident he braved the well-known Island snow-storms, blizzards, and roads to faithfully attend lectures—that is almost deservant of a degree in itself! During his Sophomore year he was a member of the cast of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" staged in the Spring of '53 by the College Dramatics Society. Elliott has an admirable character with a quiet, sincere concern for his fellowmen and a well developed sense of humor. Since coming to Saint Dunstan's he has been noted as a diligent student, a pleasant companion, and a Christian gentleman who has won many friends. He has been an asset to our campus, and we, his friends, wish him every success in whatever he may choose to do.

GEORGE JOSEPH MULLALLY — ARTS

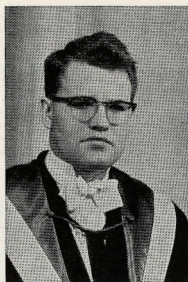

On July 25, 1935 the home of George Mullally, Souris West was graced by the arrival of an infant who was to be called George "Junior".

George received the first years of his primary education at the local school. Later he attended Souris High School where his academic achievements merited him the Governor General's medal. George joined the inmates of this institution well prepared to pursue further his education.

During his stay here George has shown a keen interest both in studies and in extra-curricular activities. In the former he proceeded with favorable success but in the latter he was outstanding which is evidenced by the numerous executive positions which he was called on to accept.

For two years George was chosen by his classmates to represent them on the Student's Union Executive. He capably executed the duties of rink manager, stage manager for the dramatics society, chairman of NFCUS, and Vice-President of the Students' Union. This year in recognition of George's ability to lead and willingness to work the student body elected him as president of the Student's Union. The efficient manner in which he carried out these varied duties earned for him the honor of being elected life-president of his class. In addition he is a member of the URTP (Air Force Reserve) and a First Aid Instructor.

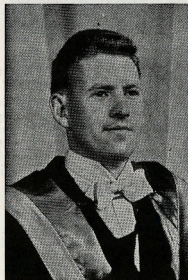

George intends to take up pharmacy as a career.

JAMES ARNOLD MULLIN — ARTS

Charlottetown was a quiet and peaceful city until, in the wee hours of December 7, 1935, a bundle of energy in the form of James Arnold Mullin arrived on the scene. Arnold, because of his aggressiveness in his early youth, picked up the name of "Kayo". He attended Queen Square School before coming to Grade XI at St. Dunstan's in the fall of '51. While here he has proven himself to be a diligent and persevering student, and a versatile athlete endowed with a fiery spirit. "Kayo" was a valuable member of our Varsity hockey and football teams, and had the distinction of playing on the 1954 team which won the Maritime Intercollegiate and Senior Championships. During his sojourn here he was elected President of the A.A.A. and captain of our hockey and football teams. "Kayo" also participated in intramural basketball and softball, displaying in these his characteristic drive and determination. He has also earned his commission in the Army through his service in the R.O.T.P.

"Kayo" plans to make his career with the Royal Canadian Army, and has been posted to the Second Battalion Black Watch at Aldershot. We can rest assured that in his future he will display his usual proficiency and Christian zeal.

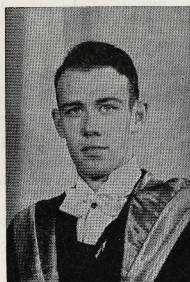

GERALD JOSEPH MONAGHAN — SCIENCE

Gerald, the son of Mr. & Mrs. James Monaghan, first saw the light of day on July 22, 1934. "Mert", as he is popularly known, received his primary education at Queen Square School, from where he graduated in Grade X with an honor certificate. A quick glance into the crystal ball told him that his future endeavour lay at St. Dunstan's. So "Mert", with his books packed and ready, entered this venerable institution of learning in the fall of 1951, and his red head has been a bright spot on the campus ever since. He has diligently pursued his course during his years here at college, and this year he graduates with his Bachelor of Science degree.

"Mert" seems to typify the spirit of a "cool" sportsman. In his Freshman year he played on the Saints Senior hockey team, and since then has lent his heady talents on the ice to his class team in the intermural league each year. When it comes to softball, every spring "Mert" is among the top players in the intermural league. "Mert" has spent the past two summers in the army, aspiring to the rank of a commissioned officer.

"Mert" has the qualities of a keen wit and deft versatility that mark a successful man. He carries with him the best wishes of all in his future endeavours in the field of chemistry in which he plans to do post graduate work.

JAMES STANISLAUS NOONAN — SCIENCE

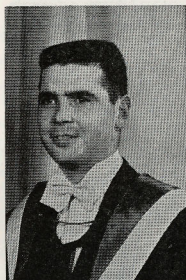

Jim made his entrance into the world on March 10, 1936 in the town of Summerside, and this spring, makes his exit from St. Dunstan's after having compiled an enviable record of scholastic achievement. Although he is but twenty-one years of age, Jim has lived a full life, both here at S.D.U. and at various Royal Canadian naval establishments during the summer months.

His public life began at the age of six when he entered St. Mary's Convent in Summerside, whence he moved on to Summerside High School. Here he successfully fulfilled the scholastic requirements up to and including Grade XI. With this background, he entered St. Dunstan's in the fall of 1953. From the first day of his arrival on the campus, Jim proved to be a very popular student.

This fact was borne out during his Senior year, when he was elected president of the St. Dunstan's branch of the Canadian Federation of Catholic College Students.

In the realm of extra-curricular activities, Jim manifested an interest in all aspects of athletics on the campus. In Freshman year, he began a career in the naval reserve by enrolling in the U.N.T.D. After successfully completing three summers training with the R.C.N., both ashore and afloat, Jim was promoted to Acting Sub-Lieutenant, (Supply) R.C.N. (Reserve).

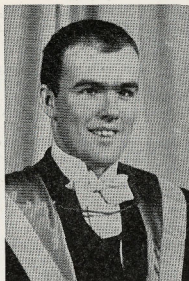

In graduating this year with his science degree, Jim brings to a close a successful phase in his life; and opens another as he looks toward Dalhousie University, and medicine.

RICHARD PRESTON NOONAN — ARTS

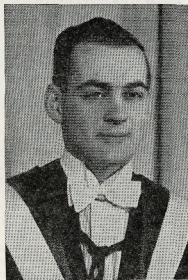

Summerside's only bright spot in an otherwise wet and dreary day on August 30, 1955, was the arrival of 8 pounds 7 ounces of mischief to Mr. and Mrs. Preston Noonan. Dick, after surveying the world situation for six years, entered St. Mary's Convent in 1941. After completing his studies there, he finished his high school education at the Summerside High School. Dick came to St. Dunstan's in the fall of '53 as a Freshman and has since proven himself an outstanding student and a keen participant in all campus activities. He was a member of our hockey team for two years, and was a zealous performer in all intramural sports. He served on the staff of Red and White for two years having the distinction of being one of the youngest students ever to grace a Red and white staff. Dick also served on the executives of the A.A.A. and the Students' Union; and he has shown himself to be a talented artist on the stage. Through his service in the U.N.T.D. for the past two summers, Dick has qualified for a commission in the Reserve Force.

Dick's good natured disposition, gentlemanly qualities, and Christian outlook have practically ensured him of future success. Next year Dick hopes to return to St. Dunstan's where he intends to further his education in the field of Commerce.

JOSEPH REVELL — COMMERCE

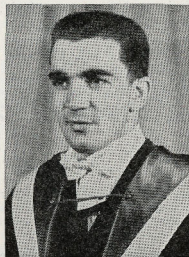

Joe was born on October 14, 1935 at Charlottetown. He received his primary education at Queen Square School, where for ten years he proved himself an excellent student, and could usually be found at the top of his class. In September, 1951, Joe entered Prince of Wales College in Charlottetown. Besides his academic work, Joe also found time for his favorite sports; football, basketball, and hockey. In May, 1955, he was a member of the graduating class at P.W.C. St. Dunstan's welcomed Joe in September, 1955, and he began his studies for a degree in Commerce. While at S.D.U., Joe has been outstanding in football and hockey. Within the next year or two, he plans to study for a Master's degree in Business Administration.

JEAN-PAUL ROUSSEL — ARTS

Jean-Paul was born on September 23, 1935 at Rivière-du-Loup, Quebec, where he received his early education. In 1950 he entered St. Joseph's University in Memramcook, N.B., and after completing three years study he came to St. Dunstan's in the fall of 1953. Since coming to St. Dunstan's Jean-Paul has proved himself a capable and industrious student. Taking an active interest in sports, he participated in inter-class competitions, and his athletic ability has merited him a "D" in football. He was also a valuable member of the football team which won the Maritime Senior and Intercollegiate Championship in 1954. His service in the C.O.T.C. has qualified him for a commission in the Reserve Force. Two valuable assets, a keen sense of humour and willingness to help others, have won for John many friends who wish him every success in his chosen profession, Dentistry, which he plans to enter next fall at the University of Montreal.

GASTON ROY — ARTS

Gaston was born at Armagh, Quebec, on March 7, 1935, and for this reason, as a philosopher, he very justifiably celebrates the feast of St. Thomas with a double relish. He came to St. Dunstan's in the fall of '53 after having spent the previous year at St. Joseph's college, and he lost no time in breaking down the barriers of language and the like and in making himself an active and respected member of his class. His quiet manner belies the fact that he is a well-known figure in the Maritime boxing rings, relying on his professional boxing to maintain his estate and meet his payments with the Bursar. From the ring to the ice seems to have been an easy step, perhaps a logical one, and Gaston has provided the S.D.U. fans with his share of action during his years on the first team hockey squad. Among his varied and sometimes conflicting interests, one has emerged as his professional ambition; and from his studies in Biology has blossomed a calling to medicine. Once armed with his Arts degree, he plans to enroll in the faculty of medicine at Laval next fall, and if we can rely on his most recent sphere of interest, we can look forward to the day when the world will have gained another heart specialist.

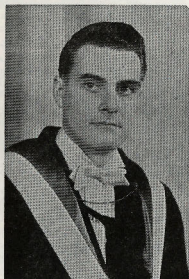

GERALDINE ESTELLE SULLIVAN — SCIENCE

We first met Gerry when she came to St. Dunstan's as a shy Freshette in 1953, but, like most co-eds, it was not long before she found her place in the whirl of exams and social activities. Since coming to S.D.U. Gerry has told us many things about her beautiful home town, Montague, and the ideal life of its town folk.

Gerry was born in Montague on Easter Sunday, April 12, 1936. Her early years were spent in Vernon Bridge, but she returned to her beloved Montague and received her primary and high school education at Montague Memorial and Montague High School.

After graduating from High School in 1953, Gerry was awarded the I.O.D.E. bursary which is given only to students of high caliber. With this bursary Gerry came to St. Dunstan's and proved her aptitude for Science. Though she is a diligent student and was appointed Lab. Assistant this year, she has always taken an active interest in many extra-curricular activities.

Gerry's immediate plans for the future are to work in the Science field. Eventually, she intends to go on for a M.Sc. in Chemistry.

THOMAS F. SWIFT — ARTS

The accidents surrounding Thomas F. Swift:

Where: Born in Minto, New Brunswick.

When: May 1, 1955.

Why: We don't know, (not an accident anyway).

Quantity: One hundred pounds of S.D.U. cooking spread over a five foot and eleven inch frame.

Quality: A keen student of human nature; astute judge of character; prolific letter writer; inveterate chain smoker; easy-going to the point of indolence; excessively tolerant, patient, and long suffering; frequently subject to moods brought on by unique personal problems.

Posture: His favorite is flat on his back for any of a number of reasons.

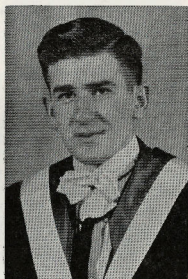

Relation: Strictly on the up and vp.

Habit: Most outstanding is that of writing detailed notes to himself.

Action: Active interest in intramural sports, especially softball; spirited climber in the Glee Club chain, reaching the presidency in his Senior year; Athletics Editor of subtle wit and facile pen for Red and White; member of the College Choir, and occasional participant with the French Choir.

Passion: A rabid baseball fan, and predyed analyst of the major-league scene; can be seen throwing a ball with someone anywhere from early April to late October; he has rapidly acquired a taste for classical music to season his regular diet of Latin tempos; and a masterful manipulator of bifilar friendships, but currently warping on the stronger thread.

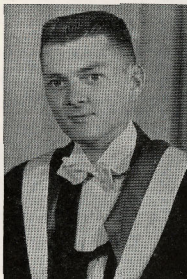

Generally: Not too plastic when he arrived at Saint Dunstan's in the fall of '53, Tom is not too elastic as he leaves his bunk and his books this spring; but he seems to wear well the milling marks of the academic machine, and certainly will cut no mean swath in the civil service, the business world, or the teaching profession.

JOHN WILLIAM TRAINOR — ARTS

On December 23, 1936, a most surprising and delightful Christmas present arrived a few days early in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. William Trainor when the gleaming eyes of a son, William Jr., first opened to survey this interesting world. After successfully completing his primary education at Albany Village School, Bill entered our beloved college in the fall of 1952. During that first year, he proved his ability as a student by successfully completing his two years of high school work in one year. Since then, Bill has proved himself to be a hard worker and above all, a Christian gentleman. His abilities merited for him certain responsibilities which he readily accepted. He served as secretary-treasurer of the Student's Mission Society during 1954-55; last year he held the position of assistant business manager of Red and White; this year, he assumed the administrative burden of Red and White as business manager as well as the representative of the magazine on the executive of the Students' Union.

Besides filling these important positions, he has accepted the many minor duties which came his way, and in recognition of his dedicated effort while in college, his classmates have seen fit to elect him the lifetime secretary of his class.

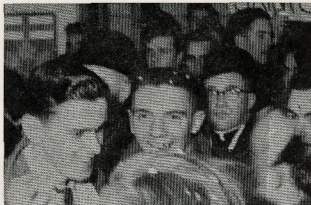

BERNARD EARL WALSH — ARTS

"Bernie" was born in Georgetown on July 27, 1935. He received his primary education at Georgetown High School. He completed his high school at Saint Dunstan's, and entered Freshman Arts in the fall of the same year.

In his years at Saint Dunstan's, he has taken part in many college activities both curricular and extra-curricular. Besides being a keen student, Bernie participated in such intramural sports as hockey, basketball, softball, and rugby. He was a competent member of the executive of the Amateur Athletic Association, and is unique in being the manager of the last Intercollegiate Rugby Squad to represent the college prior to the initiation of Canadian football. He joined the University Naval Training Division in 1954, completed three years of training successfully, and will receive his commission in the Royal Canadian Navy Reserve in May of this year.

A combination of good dry wit, good sportsmanship, and wisdom has won for him many friends and has facilitated his task of acquiring a good Christian education

FACES IN A SEA OF SMILES

A Fine Achievement

There is no doubt but that all who come in contact with this column are aware of the writer's reference in choosing a heading such as this one. Yes, it does refer to St. Dunstan's acquisition for the second time of the Dominion Championship. Naturally we are proud of this feat and equally proud of those who have been responsible not only for bringing honor to St. Dunstan's but for making our little College better known across Canada. When we consider the fact that the debating team composed of Donald MacDougall and Leo Peddle with Ian Gillies as an alternate for the Debating Finals and under the capable direction of Father Cass had to compete against larger colleges which are capable of wider selection in the choice of debating candidates, and the fact also that the St. Dunstan's team had to face a bilingual debate, the achievement takes on greater proportion. In the semi-finals the debaters held the affirmative of the resolution that the Federal Government encourage American capital investment in Canada. They defeated Ottawa's St. Patrick's University debaters who upheld the negative. In the final round the St. Dunstan's team upheld the negative against Laval University. In both cases the win was scored by a split decision. After the final debate, the debaters were each presented with a cheque for one hundred dollars and the team was presented with the MacDonald-Laurier Trophy, emblematic of Canadian University debating supremacy, by Senator Joseph Connolly of Ottawa who acted as honorary chairman. During their stay in Ottawa, the debaters along with Father Cass and the Maritime President of the M.I.D.L., Ian Gillies, were the guests of Neil A. Matheson M.P.

As the final edition of Red and White goes to press, we are ever reminded of the signs which characterize the end of another scholastic year. Among these we might note the taking of class pictures and the pictures of the various societies whose task it has been to enrich in a great part our College life. For some, the end of this scholastic year will bring with it an end to a direct association with St. Dunstan's as the prospective graduates bid farewell to a beloved Alma Mater who has labored unstintingly for so long in moulding the lives of young Christian ladies and gentlemen. Another noteworthy reminder of the end of this College year has been brought on by the appointment at a recent meeting of the life officers of the graduating class listed as follows:—Valedictorian, Thomas Ford; President, George Mullally; Vice-President, Marie Burge; Secretary, William Trainor; Committee, Leo Doiron and Jean-Claude DesRosiers.
