U OF T FACULTY MEMBERS PROTEST VIET WAR

TORONTO (CUP) — More than 25 per cent of the 1,100-member University of Toronto faculty have signed a statement protesting United States bombing in Vietnam.

A delegation representing the 338 members is seeking an appointment with Prime Minister Pearson to urge the federal government to demand an immediate end to the bombing and the earliest possible withdrawal of U.S. forces.

The statement, which sets forth the view of the recently-formed Faculty Committee on Vietnam, also asks that Canada "consider following the example of Sweden in refusing to sell arms to the U.S."

History professor Kenneth McNaught, committee chairman, said the committee will approach the faculties at other Canadian universities.

"We will get support on every campus," Prof. McNaught said.

GIRL CHOSEN CUP PRESIDENT

MONTREAL (CUP) — A third-year University of Saskatchewan drama major Saturday became the first female president in the 29-year history of Canadian University Press.

Lib Spry, editor-in-chief of The Sheaf, was elected to the post by editors of 37 campus newspapers.

She defeated Jim Schaefer, editor of the University of Western Ontario, in the election, held at the conclusion of CUP's 29th national conference.

Miss Spry will begin her 9-month term of office in Ottawa July 15, heading up a four-man office staff which she will appoint.

DAL GAZETTE WINS LIQUOR ADVERTISING BATTLE

HALIFAX (CUP) — The Dalhousie Gazette, student newspaper at Dalhousie University, has won the right to carry service advertising sponsored by breweries.

Nova Scotia's liquor licencing board rescinded its 1965 decision banning the advertising, after receiving an application from the Dalhousie student union.

The licencing board in its ruling restricted breweries to use of their name. No slogan or brand names are permitted.

The student brief to the government stressed the economic factors involved in carrying the advertising, pointing out the ban had resulted in the loss of several thousand dollars in advertising revenue.

It is not known whether other campus newspapers in Nova Scotia will be permitted to carry similar advertising.

SFU STUDENT NEWSPAPER FIRST TO INCORPORATE

BURNABY (CUP) — The Peak, student newspaper at Simon Fraser University, became the first Canadian campus newspaper to receive legal recognition when it was incorporated recently as a society.

"This move will put The Peak in a more autonomous position and allow it to develop freely," said Barry J. Rust, national secretary of Canadian University Press, when he learned of the incorporation.

But incorporation also carries a number of legal obligations.

The new society must publish annually, submit complete financial records as well as a comprehensive report of society affairs to the registrar of societies.

The Peak can also be sued under the Societies Act of British Columbia.

WESTERN'S NEW RES TO ACCOMMODATE SINGLE AND MARRIED STUDENTS

LONDON (CUP) — The University of Western Ontario's board of governors recently gave its preliminary approval to the proposed 1,600-bed student housing complex.

The five-building complex will house 1,200 single students and 400 married couples, doubling present on-campus accommodation.

The buildings will be focused around central facilities such as a main recreation room designed to hold a maximum of 800 persons and a single cafeteria with room for 480.

The complex, to be built at an estimated cost of $6,000 to $7,000 a bed, is scheduled for completion in early August.

McMASTER FILM BROUGHT BEFORE MORALITY SQUAD

HAMILTON (CUP) — A movie film produced by McMaster University students showing a woman in bed with two men has been viewed by Metro Toronto's morality squad at a processing laboratory there.

Sgt. John Wilson of the morality squad said charges might be laid against the film's makers on the ground that it is obscene.

The eight-minute sequence in question is part of a scene in Black Zero, one of trilogy being directed by John Hofsess, a former McMaster student.

The scene shows two men in bed with a woman. None of the three are undressed, but their actions might be construed as obscene, said Sgt. Wilson.

But Peter Rowe, president of the university's film board, said Monday (Jan. 9) there was no possibility of laying charges.

"The film is only part of a working print and may be edited before the final film is submitted to the Ontario Board of Censors."

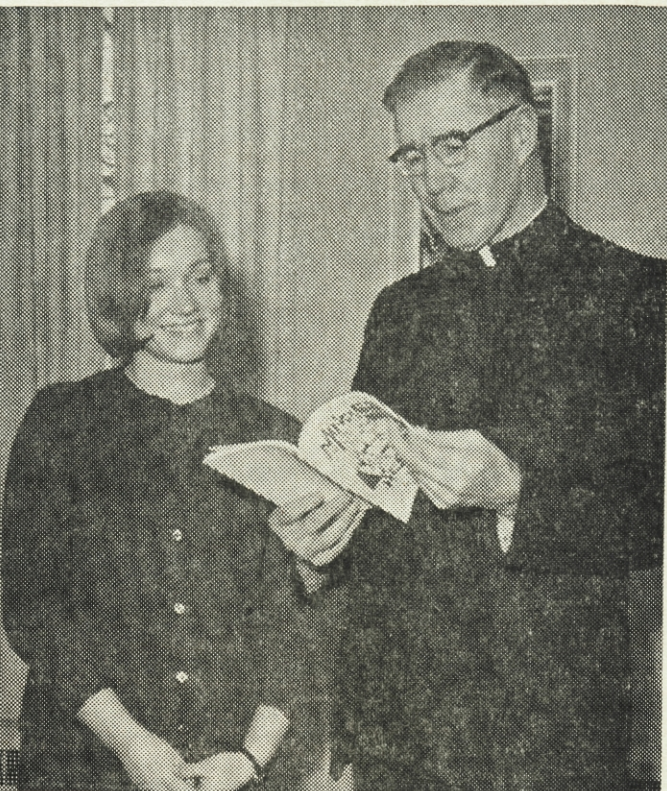

Mr. Rowe said the film was probably taken by the morality squad because some film producers had been reported as slipping small erotic scenes into larger sequences, then clipping them out and splicing them to similar scenes from other films to produce stag movies.

Former Red & White Editor Reports from British Columbia

As I sit down to write this front-line report on the missions in northern B.C., I find myself confronted with a formidable task. Not only do I have before me a vast and enigmatic complex to describe, but I also find myself combating all other propaganda concerning these missions. Most of the publicity so far issued concerning these missions combines cornball humour with "good down-to-earth horse sense" into a mixture that proves to be neither humorous nor sensible. There indeed is much good humour on the missions, but often it is a humour which seeks to run from rather than cope with the reality of the situation. There is also a lot of good "horse" sense here, but a horse sense that seems to have outrun itself.

The down-to-earth good sense is no better, for it presumes that you are in sympathy with the principal of confessional schools. They do not consider that even in such great Catholic dioceses like Montreal and Boston, this principle is being disputed not in vain by influential Catholic thinkers. But, the accusations do not stop there, for the majority of these schools are run almost exactly like public schools "so that we won't clash with the neighbors." Why, then should we have separated ourselves to begin with?

In that case, why am I here? That is easy to answer. This year I wanted to do something different. These people offered me the opportunity and so I took it. If the "Flying Saucer Society of North America" had got to me first, I might have been interviewing Martians right now. However, B.C. beat them to it, offered me a good jog (a good job being a job you like to do) room and board, new places, new faces, and a little money to boot. It was certainly worth a try. They also offered me friendship, good company, and good food. And all these things are, in my books, extremely valuable. If this place offers me friendship, then perhaps I can overlook for a while the principles on which it is constructed.

Let me elaborate. Bishop O'Grady has brought people here to work at a pitance in the schools of his diocese. These schools are all, without exception, great modern complexes filled with almost all the comforts of modern living. Room and board provided is usually more than adequate.

Lary Don Elsyn was Editor-in-Chief of the Red and White last year, and is presently working as a volunteer lay apostolate in Northern British Columbia. In his article, Mr. Don Elsyn describes his impressions of his work as a lay apostolate.

All these schools are not placed out in the sticks but in thriving modern little communities that can compete as far as facilities are concerned with any I have seen in Canada a mare usque ad mare. And who do these schools service? A pitiful minority of largely nominal Catholics, and Indians who would rather be off in the woods. Honestly, many of us feel as if we are wasting our time here. Most of these people could be serviced by existing adequate public facilities and the effort could be made to strengthen the faith in the home rather than wet-nurse it

For after all, what good is there to say about the principles on which so many of our modern institutions were founded! Greed supports our banks, pride upholds our schools, intemperance fills our restaurants, and selfishness blesses our marriages. Compared to all those institutions, that of Lay Apostles B.C.-style appears quite immaculate.

And so there you have it. The bad and the good in a general report. If anyone down east would like a few details, I will only be too glad to fulfill them on request.
