CAUGHT BETWEEN CLASSES

What in your opinion would be the most important addision to this campus?

ELDON JAMIESON

"A change of attitude on the part of the student body ...too much apathy. A few people share the burden of campus activities . . . the rest are here and that's all."

"Puisque le Cercle Français n'a pas trouvé d'apetes cette année, il faudrait que nous commençons une culture (physique) française done je vous donne le modèle."

MIKE COADY

"The administration of this university must soon begin to look upon students as the decision-makers where they are concerned."

"A bar admitting anyone over sixteen . . . less apathetic students and a most flexible staff."

Fr. J. KELLY

"A centre for the study of human communications particularly, (A) the changes the mass media have made in the human condition with particular emphasis on the possibilities now open to us. (B) Also a chapel designed and perhaps constructed by the whole community. This would amount to erecting a religious life on the basis of a good human life."

Atlantic Association of Students Conference Held in Antigonish

Last weekend the Student's Union sent a delegation to Antigonish to the annual meeting of the Atlantic Association of Students. It was voted defunct largely because of its past record of disorganization. In its place an Atlantic Students' Conference will be held twice annually, once in the spring term and once after the C.U.S. Congress.

The A.A.S. was set up originally as a policy making organization. In this role it failed firstly because of the already mentioned disorganization, secondly because the delegates agreed only on vague idealistic notions and thirtdly because its policy making had no great effect upon either administrations or provincial governments.

Much of the talk centered around provincial unions. A delegation representing all or most of the post-secondary students of the province should become a powerful interest group. Such things as Mamma Where's My Note?

What do you feel about compulsory class attendance? Do you feel that it is a violation of a student's democratic rights? Do you think that class attendance should be left completely up to the student? Many do. After all, education is the student's responsibility. In any case, just to let you know that the matter is not being ignored, a committee has been set up by the Student's Union to confer with the Senate on this matter. Let's hope we get results.

ON THE OTHER SIDE

Prince of Wales students elected their governing council on October 12. The thirteen member body contains an executive, one representative from each of three years in Arts and Science, and from each of two years in Education and Commerce. President of the council is David Raynor, 3rd year arts student, vice-president is Brian Chambers and Treasurer is Donnie Large. Committee chairmen have been appointed, and the budget will be drafted soon.

Stephen Foster has been appointed editor-in-chief of the College Times . The first issue is expected to appear about the tenth of November.

The P.W.C. student body is in a transition stage between its old custom of electing the SRC in the fall and a new program involving spring elections. The recently elected council will serve until next April when the council for 1968-69 will be elected.

Last weekend the Student's increased financial aid to uninion sent a delegation to versity students might be achieved.

The idea of this conference is to have an exchange of ideas. In some cases this could prove useful — say for instance we are thinking of rejoining C.U.S., the consulting of member universities could be of great help in reaching a decision.

C. U. S. REP. VISITS CAMPUS

A representative of the Canadian University Service visited the Students' Union meeting last Wednesday night. She gave the Students' Council an account of a few of the services offered by the C.U.S. People are sent to visit different Student Unions to find out their procedures, activities, and mistakes. This information is sent out to other universities thereby enabling their student unions to make rapid progress without going through their usual trial and error routine. In addition, experiments are to be carried on in universities to study different teaching methods.

THIRSTY

The Student's Union is looking into the matter of coke machines for the residences. Apparently the only drawback is vandalism. It seems people throw temper tantrums and smash the machines. So, if we can control ourselves, may be we will have this service in the near future.

At the same time costs would be at a minimum since each member would only have to pay room and board expenses for its delegate or delegates.

A RE-ASSESSMENT OF C.U.S.

In C.U.S. we had one representative while places like the University of Toronto had as many as sixteen. With no actual say and with prices rising to as much as seventy-five cents a head, we withdraw

A possible solution to the problem of no practical representation is the forming of a bloc of all the small universities in C.U.S.

Even if this is possible, is C.U.S. financially worth it? Contact with some of its members, especially the smaller universities, and the material which C.U.S. would send upon request, should yield the answers.

The Daily Examiner

On Saturday last the students of the Philosophy Class of St. Dunstan's College presented the Rev. Dr. O'Ryan with an address accompanied by a beautiful silver mounted cane as a small token of their esteem and affection for their professor. Dr. O'Ryan, who was altogether taken by surprise, made a feeling and appropriate reply. The cane bears the following inscription: "To Rev. Dr. O'Ryan from Philosophy Class, 1887."
