Joe Canuck Salutes Ivan Commovitch

This year, Canadians have been celebrating the 100th anniversary of Confederation, which saw the birth of our nation. On the other side of the world, in a land of 220 million people, of some 50 different nationalities, occupying a sixth of the globe's earth surface, another country in commemorating an event which changed its history and ultimately, the world's. The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics this year celebrates the 50th anniversary of the Russian Revolution.

To mark this epic event, CBC radio presents five programs on its radio network.

On October 8 at 4:03 p.m. EDT Project '68 features a BBC-prepared documentary—Report on Revolution. The program is a first-hand history of the events in Russia in 1917, with eyewitness reports from some of the people who were there—statesmen, artisans, dancers, lawyers, tradesmen, journalists, diplomats, nurses, Russian, Polish, French, German, Czech and British, reflecting almost every shade of political opinion.

Contributors include: Count Alexis Brobrinsky; Madame Nadia Benois; Count Benckendorff; Sir Robert Bruce-Lockhart; Eugene Ilyin; Alexander Kerensky, former Russian prime minister; and Lady Sybil Middleton.

Following these first-hand glimpses of the Revolution itself, Project '68 continues on October 15, 22 and 29, with a three-part series on the U.S.S.R. today. These programs were prepared by freelance broadcaster Doris Crowe, who last year made an extensive tour of the USSR. Her mission was to find out what it is like to be a Soviet citizen today—how they feel about their society; what life is like for the individual, for the family; what about the up-coming generation?; what are they inheriting?; how they see themselves.

On November 7 at 8:10 p.m. EDT, CBC Tuesday Night presents History Will Not Forgive, a historical study of the revolutionary events of 1917. The script, by Bernard F. Trotter, executive assistant to the principal of Queen's University, Kingston, is based on actual documents, including the writings of Lenin and other leaders of the Revolution. This hour and 50-minute program is produced for CBC radio by John Reeves.

Japan Conquers P.E.I.

Now don't get alarmed. You haven't slept through a war. Last Thursday, September 28, at St. Dunstan's Amphitheatre YOTARO YANASE and SIGEO SHIMIZU, two Japanese students presently studying at the University of Toronto charmingly captivated their audience as they revealed an insight into Japanese life.

The students, one of whom is working towards a Ph.D. physics, were introduced by WUSC chairman, Pat Sinclair. This is the first of many similar projects being sponsored by the World University Service of St. Dunstan's, one of whose goals is to promote better understanding between students in different countries of the world.

Mr. Yanase and Mr. Shimizu are making a "goodwill tour" of Canada on behalf of the Embassy of Japan. They have already been through Western Canada and most of the Maritime provinces. Their principal aim is to promote better Canadian-Japanese relationships.

Their talk consisted of three films describing Japan, its geography, way of life, their culture, and finally their science and technology. The films were quite intensive and gave an accurate picture of the traditional and western aspects of Japan.

It was during the discussion which followed that the audience became conquered. Mr. Yantase answered several questions put to him by the students. As they had only been in Canada for two years, they were asked their chief impressions. They stated that they were amazed at the small number of people living here, especially in the Maritimes, as compared to their homeland. Other questions dealt with family life, education, and the future of Japan.

Congratulations

Congratulations are in order for Prince of Wales College. On Saturday, September 30, PWC granted on honorary Doctor of Laws degree to six notables, in an impressive ceremony marking the official initiation of Prince of Wales College into a degree granting status. Among those receiving degrees was Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, who also took part in the Convocation procession, which was made open to the public.

Prince of Wales has taken a big step forward. Again, congratulations, and good luck in your new role.

On October 18, 1967, Premier Alex Campbell will be on campus to address the students. Should you go Liberal?

On Wednesday, September 27, the first meeting of the Sigma Delta Sorority was held. Cathy Gallant was elected Social Committee Chairman, and Helen MacDonald was chosen Freshman representative. Plans for the oncoming co-ed party were discussed and a tentative date set. Other plans for later in the year were also presented. This organization is coming alive, girls! Come along with it; don't make it necessary to embalm you as we nearly did the sorority.

According to most recent reports, Father Landrigan's condition is much improved. Hopefully, it won't be long before he'll be home again.

According to all reports, Eric Milne will soon be assuming a new position on the Students Council. He will serve as representative for three organizations on campus: Year Book, Red & White, and Photo Club.

On Wednesday, September 27, the Coffee Shoppe Board of Directors held their first meeting of 1967-68. In case anyone does not know, the Board is made up of: Sherril Barwise, Chairman; Diane Laughlen, Secretary; Tom Green, George McNeil, and Bill Morse.

As a result of this meeting, wages in the Coffee Shoppe will remain the same, as will the cost of food. Beginning Monday, October 2, there will be three daytime waitresses, as two alone are unable to handle the business.

The possibility of adding more variety to the menu was discussed, as was the installation of coke and sandwich machines.

It is possible that an attempt will be made to set up some form of regular entertainment in the Coffee Shoppe, such as a dance every Friday evening. Further news is expected on this.

Catering to anything going on outside the Shoppe will cost $5.00 now, over and above the cost of food. This will be an automatic service charge.

A final note. The Coffee Shoppe will be closed Sunday and Monday of Thanksgiving weekend, October 8 and 9.
