

ALUMNI

As this department is being written your editor cannot avoid a feeling of regret. The work entailed in compiling it has been a pleasure—even if material was sometimes difficult to obtain—for in going over the records of former students of St. Dunstan's, we realized as never before the greatness of the heritage which they have left to us. It was impressed on us by the large number of prominent and successful Alumni spread throughout Canada and the United States, and especially in our own province. Editors of this department have complained at various times that it is difficult to obtain news. We know this is not the result of any intentional lack of co-operation. Students attending St. Dunstan's are often besieged with questions about their Alma Mater by enthusiastic Alumni when they are home for their vacation. There are students here from many parts of the Island and from abroad. We suggest that these students reciprocate this interest of the Alumni by passing along any news of former students.

In passing, we would like to make another suggestion to our Alumni. Many of our old students are interested in good investments, here is one which will benefit the college magazine and will be a source of pleasure to themselves. Why not be a yearly subscriber to the Red and White? If many Alumni would stop to consider, they would realize that the price, seventy-five cents per year, is merely nominal to them. In return we do our best to provide interesting stories, poems, articles, essays, and news of those who were formerly your fellow students. Consequently, beginning with next year, we hope that many Alumni will keep this thought before them, for we feel their subscriptions will be a source of pleasure to themselves as well as to our business managers.

Alumni are again reminded that the usual luncheon will be held in connection with the annual meeting of your Association on Commencement Day. Here is a rare opportunity which comes only once a year to meet the friends of former days. Since these re-unions were inaugurated in nineteen twenty-nine they have been very successful. Why not have as many as possible take part?

Due to the early date on which our material was prepared for the last issue, we were unable to extend our congratulations to Dr. C. H. Dougan on his election to the City Council. A star hockey and baseball player for St. Dunstan's some years ago, Dr. Dougan now has a large dental practice in the city. At this late date we wish to add our heartiest felicitations to those of his wide circle of friends.

We regret to note as the magazine goes to the press that Father Frank MacDonald, pastor at Summerfield, and Father A. J. McIntyre, Chaplain of St. Joseph's Convent, Charlottetown, are patients at the Charlottetown Hospital. It is our sincere hope that these two prominent members of our clergy will soon be restored to health and be able to return to their duties.

Recent additions to the medical profession include Harold Devereaux and Earl Grant, both of whom recently graduated from Dalhousie University. It is rumoured that they will practise in Cape Breton. We note also that Dr. Jack Ledwell, after a year spent interning, has been appointed ship's doctor on one of the Lady boats. Red and White congratulates these young men on their achievements and wishes them success.

Arthur Hughes and Charles Riley are among this year's graduates from St. John Law School. Congratulations.

Rev. Emmet Dougan, chaplain of St. Patrick's Home, Halifax, paid a brief visit to the college while visiting friends and relatives in Charlottetown.

Those of us who knew Pete Kelly during the short time he was a student here were glad to observe that he was the one who clinched the Stanley Cup for his team, the Detroit Red Wings. Pete has a large number of friends and admirers throughout the Island who have followed with interest his progress in the major league. We wish him continued success in his chosen profession and much happiness on the voyage on which it is rumoured he will embark this spring.

Two of our recent graduates will be elevated to the Priesthood shortly after the end of the term. They are John Kelly, who will be ordained at St. Margaret's on the thirty-first of May, and Oswald Murphy, whose ordination takes place at Tignish on June seventh. We wish them many happy years in the service of their Master.

Elliot MacGuigan will also be raised to the Holy Priesthood this summer. His ordination into the Jesuit order will take place in Dublin on July thirty-first. Dr. J. D. MacGuigan, his father, a well-known alumnus, intends to be present at the happy event. In anticipation of it Red and White extends congratulations.

Rev. Martin Monaghan, pastor of Amherst Island, M. I., was a recent visitor to the college en route to Halifax. We were glad to have a call from this interesting pastor of the northern islands of our Diocese, and hope that he will be able to make the journey again in the near future.

On reading over the L'Hebdo, Laval University's weekly newspaper we observe that the "Secrétaire de la Rédaction" is Simon Parent. Simon has taken special care that St. Dunstan's be included on his exchange list. Red and White extends best wishes.

IN MEMORIAM

Shortly before Easter the sad news of the death of Alex MacDonald was received at the college. Alex had spent three and a half years at St. Dunstan's before being obliged to leave on account of ill-health. While a student here he was for two years an important cog in the senior football team and his many friends were sorry to see him forced to give up his studies due to the recurrence of a former back injury. After a serious operation in Montreal and many months in bed, he seemed to be convalescing favourably and to have regained much of his former vigor. Unfortunately, about the middle of January, complications developed which proved fatal, and, following two months spent in the Summerside Hospital, he answered the call of his Maker.

Red and White mourns the loss of one taken in the prime of manhood who was only a few years ago a worthy student among us. To his family and friends we extend sincere sympathy on their loss.

Our final item in this issue is a list of the occupations and addresses of the graduating class of ten years ago. We hope that the many Alumni who knew the members of this class, and are interested in their progress, are enjoying a measure of the success which is commanded by the graduates of '26.

Of right and wrong he taught
Truths as refined as ever Athens heard;
