

THE SENIORS

GERTRUDE ELIZABETH BUTLER

"Priceless gems are oft in tiny bundles wrapt."

The story of her life? And who can prison all in these few lines—how she grew since 1923 'mid Charlotte-town's many mouldings; went forth as but a tiny lass to spend five shining years at Prince of Wales College, graduating from there in 1942; and how, then, she ventured with intrepid step to challenge masculinity at Saint Dunstan's, matched men in the field of studies, to emerge this spring an honour graduate.

How ineffective indeed becomes the pen when one attempts to portray such a romantic life! Rather than do injustice to one, herself so just, let us merely thank Gertrude warmly for what she has added to our college, congratulate her on her well merited success, and urge her to scale the ladder yet further.

FRANCIS PHELAN AYLWARD

"The brave man carves out his fortune, and every man is the son of his own works." —Cervantes.

"Big Frank" as he is called by his fellow students was born at Morell. He received his early education there and later attended Prince of Wales College. He entered the business world and for eight years was sub-station agent for Imperial Oil Ltd., Morell. His thirst for knowledge, however, overcame his desire for business and he entered the portals of St. Dunstan's in the autumn of 1937.

A born leader, Frank was soon at the front in all branches of College activity. He was class representative from '38 to '43—Secretary of C. C. S. M. C. '42-'43—

President of C. F. C. C. S. '41-'42—member of the staff of Red and White from '40 to '44, Editor-in-Chief '43-'44, Company Quarter Master Sergeant of the C. O. T. C. from '40 to '44—President of St. Dunstan's A. A. A. '43-'44, member of varsity football team for four years. He was a prominent member of the committee that organized the Thursday afternoon socials that are now so much a part of College life.

He nows leaves St. Dunstan's, well developed in mind and spirit fully capable of taking his place in the world as a Catholic gentleman.

—A. J. MacA., '45

OWEN CHARLES SHARKEY

I was born in Winnipeg. After living in Saskatchewan, Boston, and various parts of the Garden Province, I came to St. Dunstan's in 1939 and made it my home. In Freshman I was fresh; in Sophomore, dumb; in Junior, skeptical; and in Senior, bewildered. My character has changed much in four years and still leaves much to be desired. Faults outnumber virtues. My lack of perseverance galls me, and my abruptness with men of wit irritates others. Where life is leading I know not, but thank St. Dunstan's for what help it has given me.

—O. C. S. '44.

REAL LAMONTAGNE

*"A man he seems of cheerful yesterdays
And confident tomorrows."* —Wordsworth.

Real was born in April, 1922 at St. Quentin, New Brunswick. He received his primary education at St. Leonard's and later attended the Seminaire de Rimouski. Enrolling at St. Dunstan's in September, 1942 as a member of the Junior Class, he has since then proved himself to be a true sport, a worker, and a noble friend. For the past two years he was a valued member of the Senior hockey team, a member of the choir and Glee Club and of the Red and White staff.

Whatever Real has chosen as his life's work we feel certain of his success and hope that the future holds in store for him more and more of the good fortune of the past.

—W. C. M., '45

ALLAN FRANCIS MACDONALD

"He's armed without that's innocent within." —Pope.

Allan was born in Glenfinnan in 1924 and received his early training there. Then, to get an education imbued with Catholic ideals, he came to St. Dunstan's in the fall of 1938.

The youngest member of his class, Allan has proven himself to be a diligent student and a friend of all about him. He has devoted much time to the furthering of student activities and in his Senior year was President of the C. C. S. M. C.,—Athletic Editor of Red and White, Sergeant Instructor of the Cadet Corps,—Councillor of the C. F. C. C. S., and Vice-President of his class. As an athlete he was a member of the Senior football team and a keen participant in all inter-class contests.

What Allan intends to do after he leaves here, we do not know, but by applying the principles which he has learned here he cannot but meet with success.

ROGER GASTON VILLEMURE

*"Build upon the past,
Make the best of the present,
Prepare for the future."*

Roger was born at Trois-Rivieres, Quebec, June 10, 1922. He received his primary education at Jardin de l' Enfance, Trois-Rivieres. From there he matriculated to Seminaire des Trois-Rivieres, thence, in September 1943, he came to St. Dunstan's with the intention of completing his arts course and also of learning English.

While here, Roger has, by his genial disposition, acquired many friends. He has shown considerable enthusiasm in sports, especially in hockey, having been a member of the second team as well as highest scorer of the intermural league.

Roger intends to study Medicine. We hope that in this he will be successful, and that his future life will be as happy as his sojourn at St. Dunstan's.

—A. J. M., '45.

JOHN JOSEPH MACISAAC

"A light heart lives long." —Shakespeare.

Born in Brae, 1917, Joe, after spending two years at Prince of Wales College and three years teaching in rural schools, entered St. Dunstan's as a Freshman in the fall of 1940. A good student, Joe receives his B. A. today. He possesses a ready wit, a kindly disposition, a well developed mind, and a command of language.

He has carried his fair share of the burden of extra-curricular activities as Secretary of the A. A. A. '42-43—Secretary of the Senior Class and of the Students' Council '43-44,—President of the Sophomore Debating Society '41-42,—Member of the Intermediate Football Team '41-42.

As you leave us, Joe, we are assured of your future success.

—T. M. M., '46.

LANGIS ALBERT LAMONTAGNE

"Whate'er he did was done with so much ease."

—Dryden.

Langis was born on September 21, 1923, in Mata-pedia, P. Q. In 1935 he entered Seminaire de Rimouski which he attended for seven years. Langis came to St. Dunstan's in 1942 as a Junior.

A member of Senior hockey team during his two years with us, he proved himself to be one of the most outstanding players ever to enter St. Dunstan's. He was a member of the College choir, and an ardent supporter of all other student activities.

Langis, the possessor of a cool manner and pleasing personality, won for himself many friends at St. Dunstan's. We feel assured that, in anything which he may undertake, he will prove a credit to himself and to the college which he now leaves.

To a true son of St. Dunstan's we say, "Farewell and may God bless you in your future endeavours."

—J. H. M., '46.

ANDREW JOSEPH MACDONALD

"Sanctity consists in the right performance of everyday duties."

It was on Panmure Island that Andrew was born and received his early education. Having spent two years at Prince of Wales, he taught school for a year, and in 1940 he entered Freshman Year at St. Dunstan's.

Andrew is the quiet and observant type. He, nevertheless, showed a keen interest in college activities, and for the past year he capably handled the office of Secretary-Treasurer of our unit of the Students' Mission Crusade.

For the last four years Andrew has shown himself to be a thorough student, a steady worker, and a good leader. He is still reticent about the future, but we feel that he will do well in any field of life. In parting, then, we shall simply say, farewell and best of luck, Andrew.

—A. J. M. '45.

FERNANDO CHATEAUNEUF

"La bonne humeur est le meilleur don de la vie."

Born at St. Severin de Proulxville, Quebec, on December 10, 1922, Fernando received his early education at his Parish School, and later studied at Seminaire de Trois-Rivieres. Last September he enrolled at St. Dunstan's as a Senior.

During his short stay with us he showed himself to be a man of parts, and his ever cheerful disposition was the secret to his many new friendships.

He was always in his happiest moments when in the heat of Intramural hockey, and most excited when defending the principles of Le Bloc Populaire Canadien.

A true son of the soil, Fernando intends to study agriculture. In this, and in all his efforts, we wish him every success.

—F. J. O'K., '46.

LOUIS BRINSLEY DOOLEY

*"Student, and friend to truth of soul sincere,
In action faithful and in honour clear;
Who broke no promise, served no private end,
Who gain'd no tittle, and who lost no friend."*
—Pope.

In 1922 the world was in the first years of its convalescence after the great World War's racking siege of four years, and it was just suffering such setbacks as the Easter Riots and the Russian Famine. Before the bleak background it presented there occurred an incident then not able to be classified as either added calamity or relief. The intervening years have proved to have been a blessing—that event—the birth of Louis Dooley.

Louis was born in Charlottetown and having received his early education at Queen Square School, matriculated and came to St. Dunstan's in 1938.

Possessed of abundant intelligence, he had the rare wisdom that teaches a man to be silent when words are not needed. However, when he did speak his friendly nature, ready wit, and fund of knowledge revealed him as an engrossing conversationalist. This quality extended itself to the field of Public Speaking in which he showed himself to be interesting and capable. So true was this that this year he was elected President of the Senior and Junior Public Speaking Group which position he filled successfully.

Fully equipped as a Catholic young man Louis Dooley now leaves his Alma Mater for broader fields. His friends will watch him as he wends his way through the world. Sure that his path will lead to success, they now wish him the best that life can give him.

—J. R. K., '46.

PATRICK JOSEPH SHARKEY

"With mind and heart united man rises even higher."

Paddy was born at Cardigan on St. Patrick's Day, 1922. He received his early education at Corraville school from which he matriculated in 1938. In September of that year he enrolled at St. Dunstan's as a High School student.

During his college days Paddy has proved himself to be a student of no mean ability and, in addition, has given sports their due share of attention. He was a member of the Varsity football squad of '41-42, '42-43, and has been an outstanding player of the Senior basketball team for the past four years, being captain the past season.

His keen sense of sportmanship in all his undertakings has gained for him many friends. Judging from his college career, we feel sure that his future endeavours will be crowned with every success. Best of luck, Paddy!
