

Father George: "Have you ever been up before me?"

Cloony: "What time do you get up?"

Stella: "Did Bill pull that old gag about not being able to start the car?"

Helena: "I'll say he did—I swiped the ignition key."

Tingley: "Doctor I have one foot in the grave."

Dr.: "Don't worry you'll never get the other one in."

Chick: "Why is the black crepe on your door?"

Bolger: "That's not crepe, that's my roommate's towel."

LcClair: "Yes that's the smartest hat we have."

Flemming: "It doesn't have to be smart, I'll put the brains in it myself."

In closing we are going to drop the lid with this startling headline: Miscouche Girl Makes Good Male Students Suppressed.

College Chronicle

by Beverley Howard

In the Winter issue of the Red and White we signed off by wishing you a "holy and fruitful season of Lent, and after, an uplifting and very happy Easter." Since then the Lenten season has terminated, Easter with its holidays has come and passed by, mid-term exams have been written and failed or passed, and final exams have already caused many a student to open the books. Now let us see what were the main events on the campus since the last publication.

Three debates in the Men's Division of the Inter-collegiate Debating League have been held. Upholding the affirmative side of the resolution: "that trial by jury is outmoded", Robert Fearon and Richard Fleming won over the visiting team from Acadia University. Robert Doyle and Charles Daly lost to a team from St. Mary's of Halifax; they upheld the negative side of the resolution: "that Communist activity should be made a criminal offense in Canada." William Kelly and Daniel O'Hanley, upholding the affirmative of the resolution debated at St. Mary's, defeated Mount Allison in Sackville.

On February 15 the local executive of the Canadian Federation of Catholic College Students sponsored a student executive seminar on the campus. All the members of the various executives on the campus were invited, and such important topics as, "The Objectives of a Catholic College" were discussed.

The Sorority sponsored their annual skate, held on February 28 in the new college rink. Canteen services were available, and a good attendance made it a very successful event.

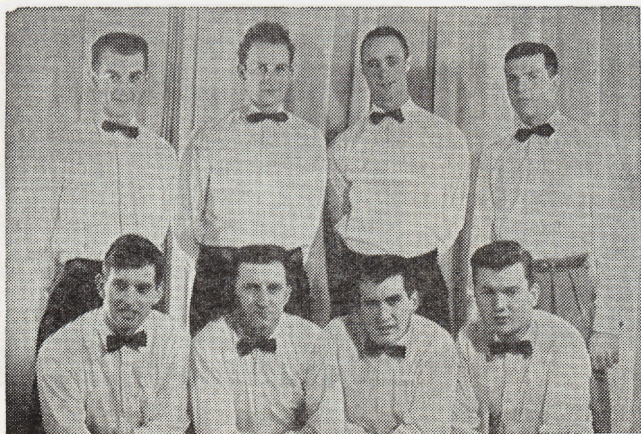

THE GLEE CLUB

A Mass, celebrated in the chapel of the co-eds' new residence on March 1 by His Excellency, Bishop MacEachern, Chancellor of our university, marked the opening of Marian College. During the following week many of the lady-saints moved into their new abode.

On March 7, the philosophers of S. D. U. celebrated the feast of St. Thomas Aquinas, patron of schools and scholars. Mass was celebrated at eleven o'clock in the college chapel by Reverend T. MacLellan. In the afternoon a hockey game and a skate were enjoyed. In the evening a turkey dinner was held at the Charlottetown Hotel. Faber MacDonald, a senior philosopher, acted as toastmaster for the event. The guest speaker was Dr. Maloney. His Excellency, Bishop MacEachern, Monsignor John Sullivan, Reverend T. MacLellan, and Reverend L. Landrigan were present at the head table.

The National Federation of Canadian University Students sponsored National Students' Day, March 7. By means of press and radio, the members tried to inform the public as to the life of a university student of today, emphasizing the problems and difficulties encountered by the student.

THE BOHEMIANS

The annual retreat was held from the twelfth to the fifteenth of March. Reverend John O'Deady, C.S.S.R. preached the boys' retreat, and Reverend Joseph O'Donnell, S.J., was retreat master of the girls. Everyone appeared to enjoy the retreat, and we sincerely hope all possible spiritual rewards were derived.

On March 9, 10, 11, a series of lectures on Modern Philosophies of History were given in the Alumni Auditorium by Dr. Charles DeKoninck, Professor of Philosophy at Laval University. Dr. De Koninck elaborated on and very clearly explained three chief philosophies of history: that of Hegel, who had an aesthetic view of history; that of Marx, who saw history as man's process of self-creation; and that of the existentialists, who reduce history to something absurd and irrational. Each lecture was well attended, not only by the students of Saint Dunstan's, but by many outsiders who would not let this opportunity slip by.

THE BAND

On March 12 the Charlottetown Little Theatre Guild presented Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap" in the Auditorium. This was largely attended and went over well with the audience. A very agreeable presentation of Bernard Shaw's 'Joan of Arc' was given on April 10 in the Alumni Gymnasium, with Rhoda Longaphie in the title role.

The Women's Division of the St. Dunstan's Debating Society sent a team composed of Patricia Poirier and Mary Elaine Trainor to Halifax on March 20 to debate against Mt. St. Vincent's Academy. Our girls upheld the affirmative of the resolution: "that compulsory education has lowered the academic standards in Canada," and, although were not victorious, gave Mt. St. Vincent's a good and praiseworthy fight.

On April 4 the C.F.C.C.S. sponsored a dance at the Rollaway Club. Music was supplied by the Downtowners. Since this was the first college dance after Lent, it is not surprising that it was well attended, and much enjoyed by all.

All the organizations are busy electing new executives, having group pictures taken, and everything else that goes with it. On April 6 and 7 elections to the Students' Union were made. William Kelly takes over as president of that organization, Patricia Poirier as Vice-President, and Robert Linegar as Secretary-Treasurer.

With Graduation just around the corner the seniors find themselves very busy attending to theses, graduation pictures, and all the rest that accompanies graduation. Graduation Day this year will be on May 12.

And so, we close the chronicle for another year. May next year's Red and White be able to relate as many improvements on the campus, as many accomplishments on the campus—be it in debating, or what have you, and as much fun on and off the campus as we have related this year. The Red and White wishes you and you and you happy summer months and hopes to see all of you again in September.
