

On February 2nd 1919, in St. Dunstan's Cathedral, Charlottetown, Rev. Edwin Kelly, a member of the graduating class of 1914–15, was ordained to the Holy Priesthood. After leaving St. Dunstan's, Father Kelly entered Laval Seminary, Quebec, where he completed the studies necessary to befit him to perform his Sacred duties. Father Kelly heard the call of the missions and is at present labouring in the Diocese of Wichita, Kansas.

We regret to state that Rev. Father Stephen Mc-Donald who has been ill for the last few months, has been compelled to leave the province in quest of a climate more suitable to his health. He is at present attached to the Diocese of Calgary, Alberta.

"Red and White" takes this occasion to extend congratulations to Messrs. Agustine McDonald, B. A., '13, and Chester P. McCarthy, B. A., '08, who have successfully passed the Law examinations of this province and as a consequence have been called to the Bar.

It is not only in the fighting forces of the Canadian and American armies that former students of St. Dunstan's played an important part in the Great War, for the Roll of Honor of this University bears the names of no less than six Priests who have served as Chaplains with our soldiers in France. Father Pius McDonald and Joseph Rooney are still in France with regiments from this province. Fathers Patrick McQuillan and Benjamin J. Murdock have arrived home after spending two years on the firing line. Father Edward Wallace is now "over there" with the American Army while Father Bernard McDonald is expected to arrive in Calgary shortly with his regiment.

Capt. Rev. Joseph Rooney

Who was for the years 1916-17 and 1917-18 Professor at S. D. U., and who has been for the past year serving as Chaplain with the C. E. F. in France.

We are pleased to welcome home many of the former students of St. Dunstan's who have been taking active parts in the great war which has just abated. The following are among those who have arrived on this side of the water recently:

Gr. Denis McDonald who was invalided home a few weeks ago, was one of the first to enlist from St. Dunstan's. He fought in France for two years and while there contracted trench fever which rendered him unfit for further service.

Cpr. Fred. J. Fraser was a prisoner in Germany for forty-four months, being the first Islander to be captured by the enemy. Cpr. Fraser, since his arrival, has given some very interesting lectures on his experiences.

Gr. Douglas Hogan, '14 was wounded last July and after spending a few months in various hospitals, arrived home early in February.

Lieut. Ralph McInerney left here in the fall of 1915 to take a commission in the 105th Regiment, then being recruited in Charlottetown. He was later transferred to the Royal Air Force and served in this branch of the service until the armistice was signed. He arrived in Canada a few weeks ago.

Bdr. Julian Keoughan enlisted in the 8th Siege Battery in April, 1916 and remained with his unit until he was gassed about a year ago. Bdr. Keoughan was awarded the Military Medal for bravery on the field of action.

Gr. Frank Conroy left Charlottetown with the 11th Ammunition Column in March, 1916. He saw active service in France for several months but was finally stricken by the dreaded "mustard gas." After going the usual round of the hospitals he was at last permitted to return to Canada.

Tpr. Joseph R. Doyle left St. Dunstan's in April, 1916 to enlist with the 8th Siege Battery, Charlottetown. He had some very thrilling experiences before he was "gassed" in August, 1917. "Tony" was one of our best athletes and it is hoped that he has not forgotten the art but on the contrary will take a prominent part in the revival of sport.

Pte. John D. McDonald enlisted with the 105th Regiment and fought in France for two years. He was severly wounded and at one time reported "Killed in action." He has, however, recovered from his wounds and he will likely return to college next year.

We are pleased to learn that Lieut. Vincent McKenna, who attended St. Dunstan's some years ago, was awarded the Military Cross shortly before the armistice was signed.

The following appeared in the Charlottetown Guardian of March 27th:—

Military Medal for Gr. J. F. McKenna, 8th Siege Battery.

The following letter speaks for itself:

Halifax, N. S., March 19, 1919.

"Mr. J. McKenna, Tracadie Cross, P.E.I.

"Dear Sir: I have the honor to forward herewith Military Medal awarded by His Majesty the King to J. F. McKenna, C.G.A.

"The following is an extract from the London Gazette, 30507, dated 4-21-18, giving particulars of the deed performed meriting this reward:

During operations near Passchendaele, from 30-1-17 to 1-11-17, under very heavy shell fire, dressed many wounded in the open. A whole machine gun crew being killed by one shell he alone kept the gun in action until reinforcements arrived.'

"In forwarding this medal I am to convey to you the congratulations of the Officer Commanding the Staff Officers of Military District No. 6.

"Please acknowledge receipt of medal."
Yours truly,

H. FLOWERS.

Gr. McKenna, to whom the above refers, spent two years in St. Dunstan's prior to his enlistment. He left here in April, 1916, to join the 8th Siege Battery, then being recruited in Charlottetown. Ferdinand was one of the few lucky ones in this Battery; he went through nearly two years of fighting and did not get a scratch. He is at present in Germany.
