Canadian university students by soliciting the Federal government's financial aid in the form of subsidy grants for its students. The increased cost that Canadian students face in getting an education has risen considerably and it is only fair to render financial assistance since many Canadian parents, especially farmers, do not have the money at their disposal to provide a higher education for their children. Federal aid in education regarding university students is one of the most pressing needs Canada has today. Such a move would be a final vindication that the benefits of higher education to those capable of it is a cause worthy of being promoted by a democracy. Most people seem to agree that such aid would be a forward step in our educational program, yet the Federal government claims there are "techincalities" in the way of effecting direct aid in this matter. Surely this phase of the problem is not going to stand as a barrier against educational progress.

—EDITORIAL—

MORE D'AMOUR

The love your heart bestows on me
Is there for all the world to see;
For on that cheek, and o'er that brow,
So calm, so sweet, so radiant now,
Lies testimony of the inner wealth,
The virtuous state of your soul's health;
Where no trace of vice or affliction lies,
But only thoughts of truth arise.
Your eyes, the mirrors of your soul,
Shine forth the elequence of the whole;
While the mere humans do exclaim,
"Oh, how nobly she was gifted."
And the spirit echoes in refrain,
"This noble soul is to heaven lifted."

—THE SCARRED BARD—

What does it profit a man to gain the whole world and not be invited to the Co-eds' party?

Confusion says:

"Hold not them in contempt who know less than you, condemn them rather who know as little as you do."