

• Honor Roll •

Following are the names of the students and teachers of St. Dunstan's University who studied or taught here at some period during the past four years and who since enlisted in the service of their respective countries. We regret to say that owing to the extreme difficulty in obtaining sufficient information regarding those who were students of this institution prior to 1914, we are unable to include in this Roll of Honor hundreds of old sons of St. Dunstan's who have done noble service in the Great Conflict just closed. We hope, however, that in a future number of Red and White a complete Honor Roll will appear ; and in order that this may be possible we would ask our readers to send along any information they may have concerning former students who have enlisted.

A good book is the precious life-blood of a master-spirit embalmed and treasured up on purpose to a life beyond life.—Milton.

The way to bliss lies not on beds of down.
And he that had no cross deserves no crown.

—Quarles.

'Tis not for mortals always to be blest.—Armstrong
