MISOGYNIST MINNIE

Some Saint's men fall for a pretty face And some for a manner of charm, But Minnie's immune to beauty or grace, An iron will protects him from harm.

"Never snared by women, not I," quoth he,
Be they never so graceful or charming or sweet,
His armour resists Cupid's arrows you see
And he stamps on their wiles with his number ten feet.

One Thursday friend Minnie DOLLED up to the nines And fed himself hugely at Milton's Old Spain, The loveliest lady comes near while he dines, And the way Minnie fell for her gives me a pain.

It's two miles to St. Dunstan's, just half an hour's walk, But Minnie gets back at two-thirty G.M., So the Rector hands out a hot little talk, And as for the ladies, no more he'll see them.

When Thursdays come round, Minnie stays on the hill,
His armour is cracked but he's safe from all snares,
Confined to St. Dunstan's, plays Jack to no Jill,
Misogynist Minnie would rather meet bears.

Our Buyer picked up a Wonderful Tie 50c.

Get one—two—half a dozen—next Thursday when you're in town. Get Minnie to wear one of these—sure dames will be round like bees in a clover field.

In this the last issue of RED AND WHITE for this college year, MOORE & McLEOD Ltd, and Crawley Moses extend their best wishes and hopes for the success of all their Red and White riends.
