

toward the town, to visit his sister whom he had not seen for thirty years. The doctor who was of a genial nature, questioned the stranger as to his identity and what was Tommie's surprise to find that the man whom he had just assisted was his own uncle! Tommie's joy knew no bounds. His uncle playfully assisted him to secure beautiful presents for his mother, and little sister; and we may be sure there was no boy in all the town spent a happier Christmas than Tommy Hayes, in the bosom of his family with his new-found friend.

ALEX. MCINTYRE, '17.

 *
 * The Funny Man *
 *

AT THE BALL GAME.

Fans—Boost it, Oweny, boost it!

Oweny—(from beneath a pile of men) At the present juncture of affairs, it is utterly impossible for me to extricate, from this conglomeration of human forms, my pedal appendage in order to apply it to yon piece of inflated pigskin.

Ray—(to Conductor on Western train) What is the matter with this train anyhow?

Conductor—If you don't like the way this train is going you can get off and walk.

Ray—Really I would like to, but my trunk is on and I may as well wait here as at the station.

Fitz—I was once walking through a factory when a huge mass weighing a ton struck my hat.

Heck—Nonsenses, that would have killed you.

Fitz—Well you see I had left my hat at the entrance.

Moved by an impulse he could not resist, he suddenly kissed her. "Oh, Jack she exclaimed that's not right. "I'm sorry" replied Jack humbly. "I did the best I knew how, won't you show me the proper way."

Mark—I think the greatest favour you can do a friend is to make him rely entirely on his own resources.

Buts—Well, consider me an enemy and injure me to the extent of a dollar loan.

Fatty—Well, boys, I must go to my own room.
Hogan—Oh, Fatty, Doucette down.

"Yes" said her father as he endeavored to separate the bull dog from a pair of blue pants. "I'm the guy that put the cur on Currie."

Ed—Do you always walk to town?

Alf—No, but I auto.

Charlie (in a poetic mood)—What are the swetest words in the English language?

Elmer—Enclosed find cheque.

In the last game of football did Polar Star?

Prof.—St. Clair, if your brotoer gave you $2 at one time and $6 at another what would you have?

St. Clair—Hysterics.

WITH THE DRAMATISTS.

Scottish Chiefs—MacDougall and Heck.

The Coat of Joseph—Daly.

The Girl of the Eagle Ranch—Valley.

Westward, Ho—McKenna.

Behind Closed Doors—Mock Parliament.

The Spoilers—Polar and Cliff.

The Pillar of Light—Jimmie.