

SPRING THAW IS COMING

Spring Thaw is coming to Charlottetown, it was announced by Confederation Centre officials this week. Opening their Centennial Tour at the Centre on Friday, January 28, the nationally famous musical production will star Donald Mews, Dean Regan, Eric House and many other top Canadian actors, dancers and singers.

Tickets for the performance range from $1.50 to $3.00. However, it is understood that tickets are selling quickly, and patrons are advised to buy now. Tickets are available at the Gallery Sales Desk at the Centre, open Tuesday to Saturday from 2 to 5.

They will be available for exchange just before Christmas, and announcement to this effect will be made in the papers. Only vouchers will be sold until January. Centre officials said, with the Friday night performance being attended by VIP guests. The Green Room will be open on Saturday.

The executive is presently preparing a brief to present to the University proposing student representation on the University Board of Governors.

NEWS BRIEFS

The dance sponsored by the Engineering Society Saturday night made a net profit of $140.00, it was announced by President Bob Cain. The music for the dance was provided by the Blue Crystals.

Student Union officials are negotiating with the University to have an improved postal system introduced for the male residents at St. Dunstan's. A presentation is being made to the University proposing the purchase of permanent individual mail boxes similar to those provided for the female residents at Marian College earlier this year. The boxes were installed at an estimated cost of $600.00. It is estimated that the purchase of mail boxes for the male residents would be $800.00. An announcement is expected shortly by the University Administration in this regard.

The Alumni Weekend, November 19 and 20, broke even financially, it was learned last night by the Students' Union President, Charley McMillan. In a statement to the Red and White, Mr. McMillan stated: "It was not the intention of the Alumni Weekend Committee to make money from the project. The fact that we broke even is of considerable satisfaction to both the Alumni Association and the Students' Union. We were prepared to accept a slight financial loss, if necessary."

The Social Committee has announced that it will occupy the Alumni Gymnasium on the following dates: December 3, January 7 and 27, February 11, April 1 and 15. Chairman of the Social Committee is Jim Carney.

Philip Macdonald, interim-president of the S.D.U. Progressive Conservative Club, announced this week that elections will be held early in the new year for the office of club president. Mr. Macdonald has been serving as interim-president in an overall plan to reorganize the club constitution.

A board has been established to screen applicants at S.D.U. for the International WUSC Seminar. The seminar will be held rotatingly in all five regions of Canada between June 25 and the end of July. Members of the board are Leo Broderick, WUSC Chairman; Doug Richard, delegate to the International Seminar in Turkey last year; Charley McMillan, Students' Union President; Rev. George MacDonald, president of St. Dunstan's University; and Rev. F. W. P. Bolger, former S.D.U. WUSC Committee moderator.

The Red and White has been receiving hate literature originating in Ottawa. The literature, aimed at the Jews in Canada, is believed to be the work of the Canadian Nazi Party. Most of the literature has been written in news-story fashion and is stamped for immediate public release.

The Granada Lounge, Kent Street in Charlottetown, has re-opened its doors to St. Dunstan's University Students after a two-week closed door policy, it was announced by Myron Bell, owner and manager. The students were banned from the club after some of the university patrons had given the management trouble.

It was rumored this week that the University is to purchase an I.B.M. computer. No details were available at press time. St. Dunstan's does not own a computer.

Health inspectors from the Charlottetown Department of Health have condemned the Coffee Shop. The Coffee Shop has been told by Department of Health officials to clean-up or close-up. They criticized the general lack of cleanliness in the Coffee Shop, and threatened to close the building if immediate steps were not taken to "improve the situation."

Student Tories Contribute To Dalton Camp Presidency

By DON SELLAR
(CUP Staff Writer)

OTTAWA (CUP) — A voice he said was from a "restless, rising generation of young Canadians" reverberated through the Progressive Conservative Party Tuesday, and lofted incumbent Dalton Camp back into the national presidency.

When the 1,066 votes were tabulated, student Tories immediately began taking much of the credit for Mr. Camp's 62-vote margin of victory over Toronto lawyer Arthur Maloney in a race which has split the party into two warring factions.

Unofficial figures gave Mr. Camp a 564-502 victory over his opponent, identified as the "Diefenbaker candidate" at this week's Conservative meeting.

Student Tories began victory celebrations, claiming they accounted for at least 52 of Mr. Camp's votes and possibly as many as 65.

There is evidence to back up what they were saying. Monday afternoon, they gave their unanimous stamp of approval to Mr. Camp at a closed meeting addressed by the two candidates.

The vote there was 52-0, and an estimated 10 to 15 students delegates weren't present at the meeting, even though their support for Mr. Camp was widely known.

Mr. Camp made no bones about who he has to thank for his smashing victory, already interpreted as the death blow to John Diefenbaker's 10-year party leadership.

Before his election victory, he reportedly told student Tories in their caucus: "You young people have done it for me."

Progressive Conservative Student Federation president Michael Vineberg Tuesday night said students voted for the advertising executive "almost to a man."

"One of the benefits of a rather close election is that anyone can claim they produced the victory," he said. "During the convention, we've shown how influential the student voice is, and I know this will continue into the future."

When Mr. Camp first accepted the party's national presidency two years ago, he promised 'this party shall not broaden the restless, rising generation of young Canadians to political cynicism, to despair or to frustration,' Mr. Vineberg said.

The national PCSF leader said he anticipates receiving Mr. Camp's "sympathetic ear on matters of policy" in future.

"And when we submit budgetary ideas and ways of invigorating the party, we will be listened to," he predicted.

Former national PCSF president Joe Clark of Edmonton echoed Vineberg's statements about the role played by youth in the Camp victory.

He estimated that 60 of 75 Young Progressive Conservative delegates cast their ballots for Mr. Camp, who conducted a cross-Canada campaign for a periodic review of party leadership.

And the near-unanimous student vote can't be disputed, he added.

ATHLETIC DEPT. CRITICIZED

On November 14, 1966, Mr. Ed Hilton issued a royal proclamation to the following effect: "Far too many societies are presently using the gym without permission and leaving it in a very dirty condition. If this is not curtailed, the doors will be locked and the custodians instructed to keep them locked."

It seems that since Mr. Hilton's installation as czar of our beloved Athletic Department, he has developed a definite talent for giving orders, as evidenced by both the thankfully shelved plans generally attributed to him, for telescoping the non-varsity hockey league and his above comments regarding the gymnasium. One cannot help but suspect that Mr. Hilton has forgotten exactly what his job is on this campus: to make athletics flourish, not wither and die.

About the gymnasium, let me make two very valid points:

1. The use of the gymnasium on this campus is not reserved solely for our varsity sports organization. Although some controlling authority may be necessary to maintain order in the allocation of this use as far as societies are concerned, the Athletic Director does not have the right to close down facilities which are for the common use of the student body at large.

2. It might be well to remember that the students of this university are not janitors. If the gymnasium is not clean, it is because the custodians are not keeping it clean.

I would strongly recommend a little less high-handedness in any of Mr. Hilton's future communiques.

Universities May Close Doors, UBC Head Warns

VANCOUVER (CUP)—Canadian universities may have to close their doors to many eligible students within the next decade, University of British Columbia's president warned.

Retiring president John Macdonald was commenting on a report released last week by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

The report, written by AUCC research director Dr. Edward Sheffield, predicted enrollment in Canadian universities will double to 553,000 in 1976. Present enrollment is estimated at 206,000.

Asked whether he thought universities could handle the double load, Mr. Macdonald said, "They are certainly not going to do this unless there is a substantial infusion of money over and above what there is now."

"The greatest problem of all, of course, is the lack of teachers. You can put the buildings up in two or three years, but where are we going to find the teachers."

"This is why I have always encouraged the development of graduate schools at UBC."

The Sheffield projections predicted graduate student enrollment would increase by only two per cent over the next five years.

Joint Winter Carnival To Be Held

St. Dunstan's University, Prince of Wales College, the City of Charlottetown and the Prince Edward Island Centennial Commission will co-operate with one another to form one winter carnival, it was announced by S.D.U. winter carnival chairman Paul Connolly. The winter carnival will be held in mid-February.

Mr. Connolly stated that the formula providing for a joint effort will provide a separate winter carnival for St. Dunstan's. However, St. Dunstan's will co-operate in several projects with the others involved.

A competition has been initiated between S.D.U. and P.W.C. for the best design for the winter carnival. Designs are being solicited from the students and are being received by Mr. Connolly and Sherill Barwise.

The winter carnival committee is expected to announce the winter carnival feature entertainment shortly.
