
The Funny Man

Come with me now my worthy friends
And read with hearty cheer
The 'laughs' on many famous men
Which are recorded here.
Now though we all just hate to be
The subject of a jest,
Yet jokes on all our fellow men
Are surely, for us, zest.

Pie—"What nationality are you?"

Scotty—"Half-Scotch."

Pie—"And the other half?"

Scotty—"Ginger Ale!"

Jiggs—"That Windy certainly has an awful lot to say.
He never lets up."

Snail—"You're right. He even keeps himself awake snoring."

'George—"What colour is Rae's eyes?"

Gerard—(quite unsuspectingly): "She has 'light eyes, sir.' "

Frog—"Say, that Geary is an awful loafer. He's been sitting in that corner for the last hour."

Rooster—"How do you know?"

Frog—"Why, I've been sitting here watching him."

Ray—"I've never seen such dreamy eyes."

P—"You've never stayed so late before."

Jim Misses A Bath

'Tis hard we know, on Mis'er Duck

To pay for recent Crime;

But, at least, he can, with glee, say

"My flight was in good time."

Prof. of Music—"Know anything about a car like mine?"

Scotty—"Yes, about a thousand jokes."

Pie—"That 'dog' of mine knows as much as I do."

Mugsy—"Well, don't tell anyone, you may want to sell him some day."

Prof.—“Now, who was the father of the Black Prince?”

Windy—“Gus is the best pitcher we have ever had.”
 Jiggs—“How do you know?”

Windy—“Well, he always hits the opponents' bats, no matter where they hold them.”

Polly—“What's the difference between a Spiritualist and a slim girl?”

Fred—“I dunno.”

Polly—“One is a humbug, the other is a bum hug.”

Prefect—“What is gender, Mr. McGuigan?”

Goldenrod—“Gender is a thing that shows whether a man is masculine, feminine, or neuter.”

One of Huck's

I went to a party with Georgie
 And met with an awful mishap.
 For I awkwardly emptied a cupful
 Of chocolate into her lap.

But Georgie was cool—though it wasn't—
 For none is so tactful as she
 And, smiling with perfect composure,
 Said sweetly, ‘The drinks are on me.’ ”

Mooney—“Hello Doc. How did you like the book?”
 Shea—“Jumping Moses, I didn't like it at all. There was too much friction in it.

Uke—“How did Flo cut her lip?”

Royer—“On one of her biting remarks, I suppose.”

Fraser (phoning)—“Hello! That Charl—te?”

She—“Yes.”

Fraser—“Do you still love me?”

She—“Yes, who is it?”

Budding Time

“Birds of a feather, fly together,”
 Sang McCardle with great glee.
 But now he sings most tenderly,
 “There's a ‘Bud’ that belongs to me.”

Jim—"Why is it you're wearing a black ye, Huck?"

Huck—"Oh, it's mourning for the fellow that gave it to me."

Antonio (in room)—"Why did you turn out the light?"

Sap—"It's alright. I just wanted to se if my pipe was still lit."

Reggie—"I've made a great discoevry."

Grandma—"No kiddin. What is it?"

Reggie—"I've found out that the heavy end of a match is the light end."

Doc Dalton's Dips:

Love may make the world go around, but it hasn't anything on swallowing a chew of tobacco.

If hard luck hands you a lemon, don't whine; don't pine. Use it for lemonade and turn the laugh.

A Scotchman is a man who eats salted peanuts on the way to a friend's house.

A magazine writer tells us that a dog fills an empty space in a man's life. No doubt this is especially true of our 'Hot-Dog.'

When you look at some of the men that fortune smiles on, you can't blame her for smiling.

I've decided shirts have a keen sense of humour, for one of mine arrived from the laundry the other day with both sides split.

Babe—"Brick must be a heavy smoker, look at the nicotine on his fingers."

Art—"That's not nicotine; it's the discoloration caused by running his fingers through his hair."

Felix—"Did you ever 'row' a bicycle?"

Tub—"You can't row a bike, nut! "

Felix—"That's funny I rode (rowed) a bike yesterday"

Squeers—"You have a bad cold."

Doggie—"Yes, and its developed into a terrible bark."

Joe—"Your roommate's voice is greatly improved."

Rioux—"Yes, but not cured yet."

Lacey—"Want to take a stroll across the campus?"

Edith—"Mais, oui."

Lacey—"Certainly, who's gonna stop us?"

Prof. (in English), after a long discourse on poetic measurement: "Mr. Gillis, what's a foot?"

Jiggs—"Twelve inches."

Cahill—"Every time Geary opens his mouth he reminds me of Moses."

Peters—"How's that?"

Cahill—"The bull rushes."

We Wonder

If the Stork will join the flying corps?

Why Brick likes olives?

Did Dapper sell all the young turkeys?

Why Gerard likes to study about the rays (Rae's)?

Who will be the 'Bee' next year?

If Dalton has appointed his successor to the Bizz throne?

Prof. (in latin)—"Now boys are there any questions? Surely some one has a question."

Sugrue (from the rear)—"Yeh, what time is it?"

Verreault—"Now listen Polly, I can only play the black and white keys."

Polly—"Well, why tell me that?"

Verreault—"Then don't be singing on the cracks."

Prof. (in arith.)—"You say there are two sides to a circle Mr. Butler?"

Butler—"Yes sir, the inside and the outside."

Prof. (in English)—"Have you ever seen Lambs' Tales in Shakespeare?"

Tub—"No, but I've seen them on sheep."
