IN MEMORIAM

It is with much sorrow that St. Dunstan's records the deaths of many of her former students, young and old. Several of these have paid the supreme sacrifice in defense of their country. May the loss of these young lives not be in vain.

Rev. T. D. Trainor of St. Louis Church, Fall River, passed away in May, 1941.

Rev. J. L. Kennedy, Rector of a Cathedral at Spokane, died during the summer.

Rev. Thomas Gorman, diocese of Okla., and Rev. G. Coffin, C. SS. R. of St. John, N. B., died in July, 1941.

---

Rev. George Bradley, S. J., died recently at Charlottetown. Father Bradley, who has been known as a missionary in Eastern Canada, was born at Kelly's Cross, P. E. I. He conducted missions in various parts of the Island shortly before his passing.

Since the last issue of Red and White several St. Dunstan's boys have made the supreme sacrifice in defence of Canada. Both students and faculty heard with sorrow of the deaths of four airmen, three boys dying overseas and one on P. E. I. But in spite of their sorrow the college friends of these unselfish boys feel a glow of pride in the knowledge that they died in defence of the Christian principles with which they were imbued at St. Dunstan's.

John O'Donnel, ex '37, was killed in a flying accident while on a routine flight from the R. C. A. F. training School at Summerside, P. E. I. Jack was very popular with all who knew him while here because of his pleasing personality. He was never known to be in ill humor.

Sgt. Observer Vincent Connolly, '37, died in action in Egypt. The few now attending St. Dunstan's who were here with Vince, remember his fine qualities and know he died a hero's death.

Freshest in our memory is Leonard Burke, ex '40, who joined the airforce last winter. He died in a flying accident over England in November.

Len's smile and laugh are now cherished memories in the hearts of his many friends. "Cagey" will never again be used as a nickname on any one at St. Dunstan's. There was only one "Cagey."

"Red and White" extends sincerest sympathy to the families of Vince, Len and Jack.

But know their rights, and knowing, dare, maintain.

And right the day must win;
To doubt would be disloyalty,
To falter would be sin.
