

DONALD JOSEPH McDUGALL—COMMERCE

*"Shakespeare's dead, Milton's dead,
And I'm not feeling too well myself"*

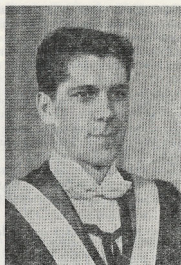

On December 15, 1937, in Emerald, P. E. I., there was born to Mr. and Mrs Frank McDougall a son, Donald. Don received his primary education at Tyne Valley and Bloomfield, P. E. I. He came to S.D.U. as a Gr. XI student in September of 1952.

In the past six years at S.D.U., Don has always taken a very active part in all student activities. He has been a member of the A.A.A. for three years, rising from the post of rink manager to the presidency. He has been a member of the M.I.D.L. for four years, being Vice-president of the St. Dunstan's branch for two years and Maritime Vice-President for one year. In 1957, Don teamed up with Leo Peddle to bring the National Debating Championship home to S.D.U. His oratorical abilities were further displayed as Prime Minister of this year's Student Model Parliament, and to climax his feats at S.D.U., the Senior Class saw fit to elect him as their Valedictorian.

In the field of athletics, Don has also been busy, winning his athletic "D" in football, and he has always been a steady member of his class basketball and hockey teams.

In March, 1955, Don joined the R.C.A.F. as a Flight Cadet under the University Reserve Training Plan. After spending the past three summers at various Airforce bases across Canada, he has been promoted to a Commissioned Officer in the Reserve.

This spring Don will graduate with a Bachelor of Commerce Degree and next fall he plans to go on to do post-grad work at Western University. Blessed with above average intelligence, a winning personality, and a will to work, all his many friends feel sure that he will go far in his chosen walk of life.

JAMES MARCELLUS MACGUIGAN—ARTS

"Work simply fascinates me, I could watch it all day"

Time: 4 A.M., Oct. 6, 1936.

Place: The Charlottetown Hospital.

Event: The arrival to Mr. and the late Mrs. James MacGuigan of a son—James Marcellus MacGuigan.

Camera: On the life of a person gifted with a better than average ability, a cheerful and sincere personality, an outlook which sees religion as the base of all man's activities, and a willingness to help others that has won for him a host of friends.

Queen Square School was the scene of Mark's first endeavours. After completing his primary education there, he entered this noble house of learning in the fall of '52. In addition to playing varsity hockey, Mark was an ardent participant in all class functions. This interesting student with the quiet exterior, after completing three summers with the Navy—both ashore and afloat, has received his commission in the Reserve Force.

Mark leaves St. Dunstan's this year with an Arts Degree; he has also qualified for his first-class teacher's license. Next year he envisions a teaching career, and his displayed ability spells success in his chosen field.

PATRICK OWEN MCWADE—COMMERCE

"Silence is a virtue of the wise!"

Pat, as he is known by all, was born to Mrs. Fred McWade and the late Mr. McWade on July 4, 1936 in Victoria, B.C. When very young, he moved with his family to Charlottetown where he has resided ever since.

Pat began his formal education at Queen Square School which he attended for ten years. While there, he was active in sports and music. And as an Army Cadet he was awarded a trip to the National Cadet Camp in Banff, Alberta. His academic ability was indicated by the fact that he won the Governor-General's Medal for leading grade 10, won the Brennan Scholarship for leading Queen Square School in Prince of Wales College entrance examinations, and won first prize in the Senior Diocesan Catechetical Examinations.

In the fall of 1952, Pat made his initial appearance at Saint Dunstan's and in these last six years, he has been engaged, at one time or another, in nearly all student activities; he has taken part in intramural sports, in theatricals (Antigone, Romeo and Juliet, Christmas in the Village Square); played tuba in the college band; was a valued member of the Saint Dunstan's branch of the M.I.D.L. and served as Minister of Trade and Commerce in the recent Students' Model Parliament. And, oh yes, he also found time to study now and then.

Pat's hobbies are many and varied; he likes to sleep, picks a cool guitar and a mean mandolin, but above all else, he likes to talk for the sake of talking. Also, it must be noted that he has a keen appreciation of the opposite sex.

As everyone will attest, students and faculty alike, Pat is one of the most popular students at Saint Dunstan's. His ever present smile, his ready wit and his eager willingness to help one and all through his varied talents were appreciated and it is no exaggeration to say that he is a true gentleman in the real sense of the word. He is a Catholic gentleman who will no doubt be a credit to his Church, his country and his college.

In 1954, Pat joined the Royal Canadian Navy, Regular Force under ROTP. He has spent three summers ashore and afloat, on both the East and West coasts. He will receive his permanent commission upon graduation with a Bachelor of Commerce Degree. He will then take up duties as S/Lt. Supply in Ottawa.

All students and class-mates wish him the best of everything in his chosen profession.

MARTINE MARIE MICHAUD—ARTS

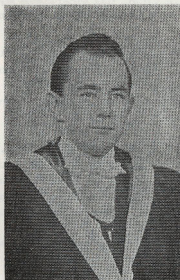

"Ce que femme veut, Dieu le veut"

Our one and only French speaking co-ed was born at Rimouski, Quebec on April 23, 1938. After receiving her early education at the Ursuline's Convent in Quebec City, she returned to Rimouski for her Freshman and Sophomore years.

Martine first appeared at St. Dunstan's in the fall of '56. Determined to master the English language, she was noted for her peculiar French-English phrases, at present she says with not a little justifiable pride, "I even dream in English."

As a student at the college, "Miche" participated in many extra-curricular activities including a role in the production of Everyman. Last year, she was well known as a member of the French Choir for she is gifted with a fine soprano voice.

Martine has now successfully completed her senior year and leaves us with her Bachelor of Arts Degree. Her plans for the future are indefinite. Wherever she goes, may she meet with happiness and good fortune. Needless to say, her bright smile and cheerful word will be greatly missed by her many friends and well-wishers.

GERALD FRANCIS MURPHY—ARTS

"The only way to have a friend is to be one"

"Murph", as he is usually known, was born on April 19, 1935, at Panmure Island. To say that he has lived extensively would be no exaggeration, for he has lived for a time in Panmure Island, Little Pond, Charlottetown, Newport, and now resides in Georgetown. He received his early education in Panmure Island, Queen Square, Seal River, and Georgetown. From there he entered St. Dunstan's High School in the fall of 1952 as a grade eleven student. Since coming to St. Dunstan's, "Murph" has proven himself a very ardent student and has taken part in all campus activities. He was a member of the A.A.A. Executive in the year 1956-57, serving in the capacity of football manager, a job he filled most capably. Armed with a pleasing smile and a cheerful disposition, "Murph" has won the friendship of all his fellow students. This year he graduates with a Bachelor of Arts Degree, as well as, his First-Class Teacher's license. His plans for the future are in the teaching profession, and we know that in this endeavour he will be crowned with success.

MICHAEL PATRICK JOSEPH QUIGLEY—SCIENCE

"An honest heart is a kingdom in itself"

St. Dunstan's University gained a man, yes, a man when Michael P. J. Quigley entered her portals for the first time in September of 1954. This man and student gave freely of his time and abilities in every student activity in which he participated.

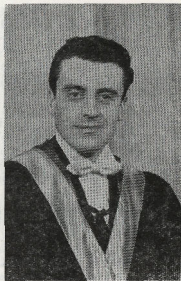

Michael or Mike as he is better known, was born in St. Malachie, County Dorchester, Quebec on August 13, 1935. Here he completed his elementary education and then entered the sixth grade at St. Patrick's High School in Quebec City from which he graduated in 1954.

Mike is in the Science faculty and plans to continue his studies in the field of medicine.

During his four years here, Mike has been on the executive of the M.I.D.L. for one year and in the society for two. He has also served as vice-president of N.F.C.-U.S. and W.U.S.C. as well as being president of W.U.S.C. Mike is a third-year cadet in the University Naval Training Division and will receive his commission in the Royal Canadian Navy (Reserve) upon graduation. Mike is known as a versatile actor and has had many roles in campus productions. This year his ability and leadership has attained for him the presidency of his class and he is his classmates' choice as vice-president of the class of '58 for life. Mike is first a Christian gentleman and a student—a student who spoke his mind for the betterment of the students and whose frankness has won for him the friendship and respect of all who know him.

We are sure he will succeed in all his endeavours and we wish him all the best in the medical profession.

"We should help others by deeds, not words."

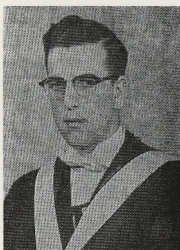

LAURIE RICHARD—SCIENCE

"A ready smile, a hearty laugh makes many friends"

This can well be ascertained by the many friends Laurie has made at St. Dunstan's and in Charlottetown. Laurie Richard is short, but not of wit; dark of complexion but not of humor. He leaves us with the memories of countless memorable and happy moments.

Born in Shawinigan Falls, P.Q., in 1932, Laurie completed his primary education in St. Maurice School of his home town. Entering at once Joliette College, he completed the classical course and graduated in 1955 with his B.A. With but a slim knowledge of the English language, Laurie arrived in the autumn of the same year at St. Dunstan's and found a place for himself as an engineering student. Laurie took part in intramural hockey and was lead trumpeter in the newly formed S.D.U. band. Forever willing to do his share whenever entertainment was needed, he always rendered a good account of his musical talent, either by singing or playing the trumpet. He will be missed by many as he was a great entertainer off as well as on the stage. In this his third year in our midst, Laurie will receive the Engineering Diploma as well as a Science Degree. Thus arises the fact that he is a member of the Senior class.

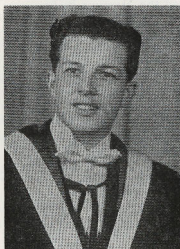

His plans are to continue his engineering studies at Nova Scotia Tech., and he aspires to a promising career in the field of Civil Engineering. As Laurie leaves these humble halls we find ourselves wishing him the best of luck for the future.

ADELBERT PATRICK ROCHE—ARTS

"A man with a purpose, true to his word and his work"

Early on the morning of January 2, 1938, there occurred an event of great joy for the people of Iona when Adelbert Patrick Roche began his time of trial in this world. Since that time he has become a man with a capacity for hard work, and he has always applied himself diligently to everything that he has undertaken. After receiving his primary education in Iona, he entered Saint Dunstan's in the fall of '52, commencing with grade eleven. During his sojourn here Adelbert has shown himself a good student and he has taken an active part in extra-curricular activities. He has been a worthy member of the Student's Union executive; he has been secretary of the Mission Society; and for the past two years he has been a member of the A.A.A. executive, of which he was secretary-treasurer last year. When Adelbert graduates this year not only will he have his B.A., but he will be a licensed member of the teaching profession since he has taken the teacher's training course here at the College. It might be noted that when Adelbert graduates, since he is the youngest member of his family, he will terminate twenty-three consecutive years during which some member of his family has been in attendance at this College as a student. All his classmates and friends wish Adelbert "Bon Voyage".

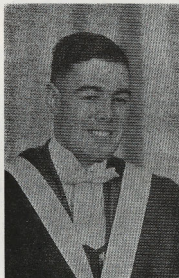

RODERICK EUGENE ROSSITER—ARTS

"When you are down in the mouth, think of Jonah—he came out all right"

The world was gifted with a new smile on July 31, 1936 when Roderick Eugene presented himself to Mrs. Phil. Rossiter and the late Mr. Rossiter. Even at a tender age the crystal ball showed that his life was to be a full one. In his quest for knowledge he first graced the corridors of Queen Square School. When he had completed his studies there he continued his pursuit of truth at Prince of Wales College. After completing Grade XI at P.W.C., he enrolled at St. Dunstan's in 1953 as a grade XII student. Completing grade XII in 1954 he joined the ranks of the Freshmen Arts in the fall of the same year.

With his rare combination of wit and wisdom he has proved himself to be a dependable, conscientious, sincere and valued member of the Senior class. In the realm of extra-curricular activities, Roddie manifested an interest in all phases of college life, and he could always be depended on to do his utmost. It is readily seen why a person gifted with such qualities is held in such high esteem by his classmates.

Roddie, who has qualified for a first-class teacher's license, intends to continue his studies in the field of education. His competence and ability will surely insure his becoming a valued member of the teaching profession.

RICHARD HARRIS ST. JOHN—ARTS

*"Dead he lies among his books,
The Peace of God was in his looks"*

The brisk autumn winds subsided gently, and the morning of September 28, 1936 bloomed into a bright, warm day, for it was in this setting that Richard, the first son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell St. John, gleaned his first view of the world. It wasn't long before the composite of his life began to take shape and Richard began wending his first steps on the road to education, which he began at Queen Square School. He completed ten years of his formative education there. After successfully writing the entrance examinations, he entered Prince of Wales College. While there his literary bent inclined him to writing, and he was named feature editor of the College Times and editor of the Welshman. Richard was also president of the college Newman Club; he made many friends while at Prince of Wales and graduated from there in May, 1956.

A quick glance into the crystal ball pointed to Richard his next educational horizon. So in the Fall of '56, he presented his credentials and prepared to assume the mantle of scholarship at St. Dunstan's. He was not long on the campus when he was appointed assistant-editor of the Red and White. His keen interest and literary application followed in the attention he gave his work. As editor of Red and White this year, he introduced a number of changes in format of the publication. During his two years at St. Dunstan's Richard has lent his support to all phases of campus activity. His trumpet-playing in the College Band will be missed when he graduates this year with his Bachelor of Arts degree. In addition to his regular academic course, Richard has successfully followed a course in education, which will qualify him for a first-class teacher's license. We wish him every success in the future.

SISTER MARGARET MARIE, C.S.M.—ARTS

Quid retribuam Domino pro omnibus quae retribuit mihi?
—Psalm 115.

Sister Margaret Marie, daughter of Margaret Devereaux and the late Michael Devereaux, of New Haven, Prince Edward Island, is a member of the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Martha of Prince Edward Island. After making her religious profession, she taught school at Kinkora, Tracadie Cross and St. Teresa's, where she proved herself to be not only an outstanding teacher, but also a capable leader in the various Church and community activities. Three years ago Sister was given leave of absence from her duties to enable her to further her studies at St. Dunstan's University. Because of her previous experience in the field of education she is probably more appreciative of the opportunity for an increase of knowledge than are the majority of students. During the past three years she has devoted herself wholeheartedly to the pursuit of her studies, as she did previously to other obediences. During this time also, besides capably fulfilling the office of "Prefect" at Marian Hall, she found time to write articles for the College magazine, her valuable contributions winning for her the coveted literary "D" award. Sister graduates with a Bachelor's degree in Arts. We feel sure that she will return to the class-room, when its doors open next September, zealous to impart her increased wisdom to eager young minds seeking the truth—to spend and be spent in the service of Him to Whom she has dedicated her life.

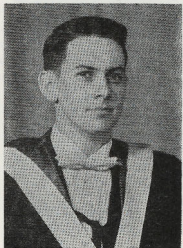

SISTER THOMAS MARIE, C.S.M.—ARTS

"Great are the works of the Lord, and worthy of study for all who love them"—Psalm 110.

Sister Thomas Marie, the daughter of Thomas and Anna Ledwell, was born at St. Peter's Bay, Prince Edward Island. After completing her elementary education at St. Peter's South School, she attended Prince of Wales College where she received a business education.

Shortly after she had finished with this phase of her studies, she entered the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Martha at Mount St. Mary's. For four years after profession Sister Thomas Marie gave efficient and wholehearted service in the admitting office of the Charlotte-town Hospital.

In 1954 she resumed her studies at St. Dunstan's College, and graduates this year with her Arts Degree, leaving her classmates proud and happy to be members of the same class. Besides giving diligent attention to her studies, Sister has been in charge of the typing class at the College for the past two years. Whatever the assignment that lies ahead, we realize that Sister Thomas Marie's qualifications are the kind that warrant success, and we are confident that her life of consecrated service will bear fruits both of personal happiness and of benefits to her fellow members of the Mystical Body.

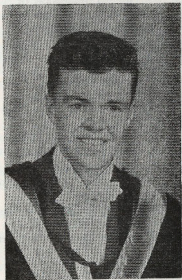

MICHAEL SWIFT

"Veni. Vidi. Vicius sum"

With all apologies to a certain Caesar named Julius, we may use these words to summarize the career of Mike Swift at S.D.U. In September of 1954 he came to Prince Edward Island and to St. Dunstan's—to an institution, to a new source of knowledge, and to a people completely new and formerly unknown. In May 1958 he departs from St. Dunstan's and from P. E. I. having been immeasurably effected by the source of knowledge, and leaving behind an institution which he will always consider as his own, and a people whom he will always admire and truly love.

This is the story, simple in essence but complex in effect, of Mike Swift at S.D.U., and it is all that is available for publication, the past being forgotten and the future being unknown. He came to an institution and a people unknown, he saw a system of knowledge previously unimagined, and he was completely conquered by all three.

Quid amplius dicere potest?

EUGENE JOSEPH WYNN—SCIENCE

"He can resist anything—but fun"

St. Dunstan's was taken by storm in the fall of 1956 when Eugene Joseph Wynn made his entrance. He stated that he was about to embark on an intellectual jaunt.

"Didi" was born in 1936 and began his primary education six years later at Queen Square School in Charlottetown, following this he entered Prince of Wales College where his talents were soon recognized.

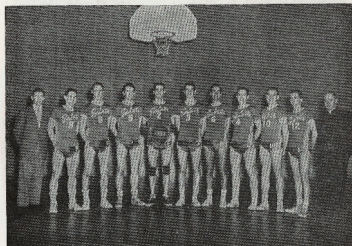

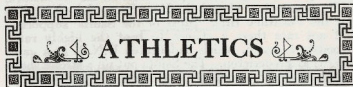

As a student at Prince of Wales he entered the faculty of Science in which he excelled. Having graduated from P.W.C. he decided to pursue the sciences further so he entered St. Dunstan's University where he continued his work towards his degree. When "Didi" graduates he will also be a licensed member of the teaching profession since he has taken the teacher's training course here at St. Dunstan's.

While at S.D.U. "Didi" has been a member of the U.N.T.D. receiving his commission in the R.C.N.(Reserve) in July 1957. He is at the present an instructor at H.M.-C.S. Queen Charlotte in Charlottetown.

Besides his other activities "Didi" has found it worth his while to devote some of his time to debating with the campus unit of the M.I.D.L. He has also played several important roles in plays presented by the Dramatics Society, both on and off the campus.

"Didi" could be found in many of the intermural sports activities both at P.W.C. and S.D.U. and he will be long remembered for his "pickin' an' singin'" and his pleasing personality.

"Didi" has very definite plans for the future and they include teaching, especially in the field of science. He can be assured of success where ever he may go and his friends in both the U.N.T.D. and at the college wish him the best of luck in all that he undertakes in the future.

FIRST TEAM

BASKETBALL

When we last had a chance to tell you about sport at Saint Dunstan's, we mentioned that, although the Saints were eliminated in Intercollegiate play, they would compete in the Maritime Senior B play-offs. Since that time the play-offs have been completed, and once again the Saints failed to become Maritime Champs. However, they did win the N.S.-P.E.I. title in a close and exciting series played at Halifax against the Stadacona Sailors.

The first game was closely played throughout, and at no time did either team have a substantial lead. When the final whistle blew, the scoreboard read 41-41. Team captain Lorne MacGuigan and lanky Gerry Tingley, both of whom have put in a very productive year as far as basketball is concerned, led the Saints in scoring, each earning seventeen points.
