

Time has flown swiftly since the last edition of our magazine and we find ourselves approaching the end of another school year. For many it will be their last, the others will return in the fall to carry on the glorious traditions of St. Dunstan's. The remaining month has been a busy one for all students. Graduation on May 25 will be a milestone in the lives of the Senior Class members. For them it will mark the end of their stay here, but one cannot say the end of their education. Though some will never more sit in a classroom, still the process of education is one which continues to the grave.

The Graduating Class this year will be slightly smaller than last year. Judge Sylvere DesRoches of Montague, a graduate of 1922, will address the graduates. The valedictory will be delivered by Cyril McIsaac. The following have been eleceted as life officers of the class: President—John Mullally, Vice President—Peter Dunphy, Secretary—Mary Johnston, Committee—Conrad Kennedy and Jean-Marc Bourassa.

PHILOSOPHERS' DAY

On March 2nd, the feast of St. Thomas Aquinas, patron of scholars and students, was celebrated in the traditional fashion. In the morning Rev. J. A. Sullivan celebrated High Mass. After breakfast two hockey games were played between the Juniors and Seniors. At twelve o'clock a banquet was held in the Charlottetown Hotel at which Rev. William Daly, S.J., was guest speaker. Other guests present were: His Excellency Most Reverend James Boyle, the Rector, Rt. Rev. R. V. MacKenzie; Rev. J. A. Sullivan and Rev. L. W. Landrigan. The various toasts were responded to by the following: The Church—Emmett Roche; The Day we Celebrate—Gerald Steele; our Country—Jean M. Bourassa; our College—Allan MacDonald; the Ladies—Mary Creighan. The day's activities were concluded with a skate in the rink from eight until ten o'clock in the evening.

Although St. Dunstan's failed to retain the debating championship she won last year, nevertheless she had another excellent year in debating, winning three out of four debates. The first victory was in an exhibition debate with students from the University of Toronto, John Mullally and Regis Duffy representing St. Dunstan's. On February 19th in the Alumni Auditorium, Cyril MacIsaac and Clair Callaghan won a split decision over Mt. Allison and defeated the resolution "Resolved: that this house accepts with confidence the leadership of the United States in the United Nations." At St. Mary's on the same night, Allan MacDonald and Robert Croken won a unanimous decision when they upheld the resolution, "Resolved: that Communistic activities in Canada be made a criminal offence." St. Dunstan's only defeat came when a team lost by a split decision at Acadia. Emmett Roche and Dick Wedge represented St. Dunstan's and debated the affirmative of the resolution, "Resolved: that the Canadian people are excessively taxed."

The first weeks of April are election time at S. D. U., and this year was no exception. Six men were nominated to fill the positions of President, Vice-President, and Secretary of the Students' Union. For President—Lorne Murphy and Charles Morrison; for Vice-President—Aquinas Ryan and Dick Wedge; and for Secretary—Alton Craig and Ronald McIver. Lorne Murphy, Aquinas and Ronald McIver emerged the winners after a well fought campaign. We wish to congratulate the outgoing executive on a job well done, and wish the new one every success.

Although the rugby season is long since over, St. Dunstan's Maritime Senior and Intercollegiate champs once again made the headlines during the month of March. This time they received tokens for their athletic prowess. The presentation took place in the college refectory, when the Rector, Monsignor MacKenzie, on behalf of the college, presented the team members, coaches and managers with leather jackets.

A few days later in the Confederation Chamber the Honourable J. Walter Jones, Premier of P. E. I., presented the team members with tokens in the form of a silver "D" with an appropriate superscription.

The annual Retreat was held from March 19th, to 22nd. Reverend Elliot McGuigan, S.J., a graduate of St. Dunstan's and a former Islander, preached. He is Superior of the Jesuit Scholasticate in Toronto. Rev. T. Butler of Fort Augustus preached the Retreat for the women students.

VISITING LECTURERS

Shortly before our Easter holidays, faculty and students enjoyed a very interesting evening when Rev. William Daly, S.J., gave a lecture on India. Father Daly had spent seven years in India and was well acquainted with the conditions there. His lecture, supplemented by color films,
